

CRCD Health Programs is funded in part by Denali Commission, Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium, US Department of Labor, and State Department of Labor

College of Rural & Community Development
510 2nd Ave
PO Box 756510
Fairbanks, Alaska 99775
1-866-955-2050
crcdhealth@uaf.edu

Anchorage office:
2221 E. Northern Lights Blvd., #109
Anchorage, AK 99508
907-786-1641

Winner

Michelle Geagel won the book bag. The correct answer to the puzzle was CRCD can assist students that have questions or computer problems.

AMERICA'S ARCTIC UNIVERSITY

UAF is an AA/EO employer and educational institution.

UAF Awards Outstanding Students

Three of CRCD Health Program's students were among those honored at the University of Alaska Fairbanks' annual student awards breakfast Saturday, April 19, 2008 in the Wood Center Carol Brown Ballroom. Each spring, UAF honors students who have distinguished themselves throughout their academic careers.

Among those to be honored are CRCD Health Program's Melanie Magnuson, Shannon Nanalook- Johnson and Norene Otnes

Melanie Magnuson
Rural Allied Health

Shannon Johnson
Human Services

Norene Otnes
Rural Human Services

Melanie Magnuson, of Unalaska, is graduating from the Rural Allied Health Program in May. Melanie is a mother of 3, an employee of the OOnalaska Wellness Center, and an active community member.

Shannon Nanalook-Johnson, of Iliamna is a Human Services Program student. Shannon is a full-time student, a mother of 3 young children and an active volunteer in various youth programs in her village. Shannon plans to continue her education in Behavioral Health with the goal of earning her Bachelor's in Social Work.

Norene Otnes, of Ketchikan, is a mother of 4, and grandmother of 1, a Community Family Service Work II for SEARHC and a Rural Human Services Graduate. Norene's life experiences and volunteer work have led her to pursue her dream of a college education. Norene plans to attend the Human Services Program in the fall. Norene has just accepted a position on the RHS Advisory Council.

CRCD Health Program's Needs Your Help!

Since 2002, CRCD Health Programs has responded to the critical need to train Rural Alaskan residents in the delivery of village-based human services. Our success has been overwhelming. To sustain our programs and initiate program expansions, we need to report on the progress of past graduates. Each graduate who submits a completed form will receive an appreciation gift. Our form will take less than 5 minutes to submit and all personal information will be kept confidential.