

Administrative Services Bulletin: June 18, 2009
By Stuart Roberts, Assoc. Vice Chancellor, Financial Services

What's new?

Bookstore: In partnership with eFollett, Auxiliary and Business Services are taking steps to improve the level of service to students using the on-line textbook ordering process. Many students who purchased their books from eFollett but have not received them prior to the start of classes will have the option to receive the first assigned chapters electronically. This option was initially implemented for the Summer Session with full implementation scheduled for the Fall Term. Look for information in the coming days on discounted shipping for early orders. Please contact the Bookstore for additional information on these items.

What's next?

Travel: The travel pilot project continues. Participating departments have been using the on-line travel information and booking application for several weeks. Key functionality is being identified and evaluated with the goal of assembling required specifications in the coming months. Please contact Dale or Leann in the Travel Office for additional information.
