Fourth and final announcement (1 October 2004):

Managing Small Trees in the Northern Forest

A Technical Workshop sponsored by the Alaska Northern Forest Cooperative

October 12-14, 2004

Changed location on campus: Wood Center Ballroom, University of Alaska-Fairbanks

Co-sponsor: Yukon River Chapter, Alaska Society of American Foresters

Continuing Forestry Education Shortcourse (13 Category 1 CFE credits)

Day 1: Four 90-minute panels on each of four topics:

1) Reducing Hazardous Fuels
2) Subsistence Usage
3) Value-added Wood Utilization
4) Why Thin and Plant in the Northern Forest

Each panel has four speakers (one researcher, one manager, one traditional/local knowledge, one synthesizer) who will integrate information from a document summarizing nearly 100 ongoing projects in the northern forest of Alaska. We define the northern forest as the mainland outside the coastal region, thus including the Kenai Peninsula, southcentral Alaska, and the Interior.

Day 2: Field trip near Fairbanks that focuses on workshop topics

Day 3 (1/2 day): Lead speaker summarizes panel and field trip information followed by two facilitated group discussions. First discussion focuses on identifying information needs/gaps in the four topic areas. Second discussion group focuses on identifying ways that ANFC can more effectively share and disseminate information.

Speaker abstracts will be distributed to workshop participants
