Research-based Food Preservation Resources

Walk-in: 43961 K-Beach Rd., Suite A, Soldotna, AK 99669

Phone-in: 800-478-5824, in the Central Peninsula 262-5824

Email: lktannehill@alaska.edu  Linda Tannehill; Health, Home and Family Development Educator

DVD Series: Preserving Alaska’s Bounty ($5 each) available through www.uaf.edu/ces/pubs

Publications available from www.uaf.edu/ces/pubs

Internet Resources

  Web-based learning modules- www.uaf.edu/ces/preservingalaskasbounty
  Preserving Alaska’s Bounty is a series of web-based learning modules from Alaska Cooperative Extension Service. These modules require Flash player.

  National Center for Home Food Preservation  http://nchfp.uga.edu/
  The place to find current research-based recommendations from the USDA, NCHFP, The University of Georgia Cooperative Extension Service, and other land-grant universities in the Cooperative Extension System.

  Facebook- Alaska Extension Food Safety, Preservation and Health
  Explore your interests in the benefits of local foods through nutrition, food safety, and preservation strategies.

Books

  So Easy to Preserve, University of Georgia. Usually available at Cooperative Extension Service Offices or through www.uaf.edu/ces/pubs

  Ball Blue Book- Guide to Preserving. Available in most hardware stores.