

FREE CLASS!

Which Vegetable Varieties Grow Well in Fairbanks?

Monday, April 30, 2018
10-11:30 a.m.

Instructor: Heidi Rader, University of Alaska Fairbanks Cooperative Extension Service & Tribes Extension Educator, Tanana Chiefs Conference

Location: UAF Cooperative Extension Service Tanana District, University Park Building, 1000 University Ave, Room 158, Fairbanks

Description: In this workshop, Heidi Rader will update you on the vegetable variety trials at the UAF Georgeson Botanical Garden and demonstrate the Grow&Tell mobile app. This is Extension's new gardening app, created by Heidi Rader. The Grow&Tell app gives you a way to conduct home variety trials as a citizen scientist.

At the workshop, you'll have the opportunity to take home some of the same varieties used in the variety trials, test them at home and then enter information at the end of the summer into the Grow&Tell app. Please download the app on iOS or Android devices before coming to class. To rate varieties, you'll need to create a profile — very quick to do.

www.uaf.edu/ces
877-520-5211

Registration: The class is free, but please contact Extension at 474-1530 or jariley@alaska.edu to register.

Parking: There is a fee to park at the University Park Building during the day. Payment can be made at the kiosk located near the west entrance of the building. Fee is 75 cents per hour payable by cash or card.