Stop Date: May 18

Subject: Vegetable gardening class

Details:

Rookie gardeners will benefit from a May 18 class hosted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Master gardener Emily Reiter will teach a class on vegetable gardening in Fairbanks from 6-8 p.m. May 18 in Extension’s district office at 724 27th Ave., in the Fairbanks Community Food Bank building.

The class will cover garden planning, the best crops to grow, transplanting and starting plants from seed, soil, water, composting, nutrition and extending the season. The session is geared toward beginning gardeners, but everyone is welcome.
