GENERAL INFORMATION

A dissertation and/or thesis is required of every candidate for the Ph.D. degree and for some Master’s degree programs, as indicated under specific degree-program requirements. An additional requirement is the electronic submission of your dissertation/thesis to ProQuest’s Electronic Thesis and Dissertation (ETD) database. As part of the ETD process, the UAF Graduate School collaborates with the University of Alaska Fairbanks Libraries for submission and archiving of electronic versions of dissertations/theses through electronic deposit to UAF’s Theses Collection in Scholarworks@UA.

All students are required to submit their dissertation/thesis through ProQuest’s ETD; however, as the author, you retain exclusive right to reproduce, display, adapt, publish, or perform all or any part of your work. When a dissertation/thesis is submitted to UAF in partial fulfillment of degree requirements, it will become available via the internet and the library catalog. In some circumstances, it may be possible to limit access to your work through a temporary embargo. A request for such a delay must be formally requested via an approved Thesis/Dissertation Delay Access/Embargo Request Form, indicating the specific length of time during which publication of the dissertation/thesis is to be restricted and the person who, during that period, may authorize release of the dissertation/thesis.

PUBLISHING AGREEMENT

By clicking “I agree to the terms and conditions” below, you affirm that you have read and agree to the following:

● I understand that both ProQuest and the UAF Libraries will create and retain a backup copy for preservation purposes

● I understand that both ProQuest and the UAF Libraries will convert my dissertation/thesis, without changing the content, to any format or medium necessary for preservation and storage of the dissertation/thesis

● I understand that UAF will store a digital copy of my dissertation/thesis and accompanying supplemental files in Scholarworks@UA and will make it available at no cost to the general public

● I understand that UAF will permit end users of Scholarworks@UA to download and use my dissertation/thesis for non-commercial purposes

● I understand that as the author, I am fully responsible for the use of copyrighted materials in the dissertation/thesis

● I understand that as the author, I am solely responsible for any errors or omissions in the thesis/dissertation, including, but not limited to, spelling, grammar, formatting or citation errors.

● I affirm that the content of this submission does not infringe upon anyone’s copyright through, but not limited to, plagiarism, unapproved reproduction of materials or improper citation.

● I affirm that I have consulted with my advisor regarding an embargo or delayed access and, if necessary, have selected the appropriate embargo period in ProQuest and submitted an approved embargo/delayed access form to the UAF Graduate School.
