

ECON 100X/PS 100X POLITICAL ECONOMY

Instructor: Mike Davis
M, W 3:30—5:00 p.m. 1/23—5/4

Blackboard, elluminate live, & audioconference course SPRING 2012

This audioconference, Blackboard, and elluminate live course requires that students be comfortable with computers and have access to the internet. The course includes a survey of the evolution and operation of the American domestic political economy with consideration of market failures and government responses. We will review major issues in political economy such as inflation, poverty and budget deficits, as well as explore the linkages between American and global systems. This is a UAF core course required of all baccalaureate students.
