Course Description: This is the first semester course of the first-year Chinese, and requires no prior ability of speaking Chinese. The course will begin with the Chinese phonetic elements, using the Pinyin system. Emphasis is placed on learning the basic elements of the language. Students will acquire the four basic skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing by studying words in the textbook, and by familiarizing themselves with basic sentence patterns.

Chinese grammar and sentence pattern analysis will be presented systematically with respect to the course materials, to help students understand and build a solid foundation for future language skills development in Chinese.

Historic, philosophic and social aspects of Chinese culture will be presented with respect to the course materials.

Course Goals and Student Learning Outcomes:

This course will cover the first five thematic lessons. The student will acquire about 170 in vocabulary, approximately 50 basic sentence patterns, and their practical applications. The tonal aspect of the language will be stressed. The students are expected to be able to use the pattern sentences to greet friends, and engage in a simple conversation about family members, class schedules, and hobbies. Students are required to write short passages, and are expected to practice speaking Chinese in and outside of class.
Instructional Methods:

- All aspects of language learning (listening, speaking, reading, and writing) will receive equal attention.
- Classroom instruction
  1. Present new vocabulary and new sentence patterns from the first 18 lesson topics in the textbook. Supplemental materials will be given as needed.
  2. Analyze sentence structures with emphases on usage and their practical applications.
  3. Practice oral exercises with every student during classroom time.
- Audio and video tapes will be used to aid the development of listening skills.
- Homework – the workbook will be used for weekly homework assignments. The students will also be required to write short passages and present them orally in class.
- One quiz every week, one midterm exam, and a final.
- Outside classroom activities – all students will be matched with a practice partner.

Course Policies:

- Attendance and punctuality are required. Any absence will require a phone call or email report. Unexcused absences will affect the course grade. Ten or more absences will result in a grade of “F” for the course.
- Deadlines apply to everyone. Late assignments will be accepted only with the approval of the instructor.
- Classroom participation and attendance will be evaluated and counted as part of the final grade.

Evaluation:
Homework/Quizzes: 35%
