Creating two different syllabi—undergraduate and graduate versions—will help emphasize the different qualities and contents of these courses. They will determine: 1) whether the two versions of the course are sufficiently different (i.e., is the undergraduate in this course different from the graduate level content being offered); 2) are both graduate students being undertaxed? In this context, the committees are looking out for the interests of the students taking the course. Typically, if either committee has qualms, they both do. Course Description
An exploration into adding Special Effects to your video projects. Will include “green screen”, titles, animation, color grading, DVD menu design and more.

Course Goals
Students will learn how to design and implement the use of Special Effects into their video projects.

Student Learning Outcomes
• Shooting and editing “green screen”
• Adding complex title sequences
• Creating a personal logo animation
• Learn the basics of color grading
• Developing a unique DVD menu design

Instructional Method
This is primarily a lecture/demonstration course. We will discuss how to develop an effect, plan, design the appropriate effect, and use the tools which will allow us to create the effect. Sometimes that will include studio (TV studio) production work but mostly we'll be editing in the media lab.

Digital component
You will be expected (aka, requirement) to have a UAF e-mail account with Blackboard access. Even if you do not use this address as your primary e-mail account, you should set it as a forward to the address of your choosing.

Course Policies
Class attendance and participation is expected. After two unexcused (not pre-approved) absences, your grade will be affected by 5 points per additional absence. Assignments are due the date assigned during class, late assignments will be accepted up to two weeks late at a reduction of 5 points per day (not per class)...get your assignments done in a timely fashion!

Grading & Evaluation
This course will be graded including +/- values
Because attendance is expected, absences will affect your grade (in a negative way). You are not rewarded for ‘just showing up’...be warned.

Note. If you are taking this as a Film Major Requirement (very likely) any final grade less than a “C” (including C-) will be considered unacceptable as a graduation requirement, and you will need to retake the course.
