Student advising will be provided through the School of Education graduate advisor and faculty, as with existing M. Ed. students. Faculty workloads for SOE employees will be adjusted as needed and approved by department heads and SOE Dean. There is no impact on space as this course is web delivered.

19. LIBRARY COLLECTIONS

   Include information on the Programs/Departments contacted (e.g., email, memo)

   The School of Education and the Center for Distance Delivery. Both departments have had equal input into the proposal for this M. Ed. concentration and the development of the new content courses.
With the new concentration the School of Education will be able to offer a web based, asynchronous Master of Education with emphasis in education technology, (M. Ed. in Instructional Technology Innovation).
The Center for Distance Education will manage the web course development, scheduling and advertising of this course.

21. POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE IMPACTS

Please specify positive and negative impacts on other courses, programs and departments resulting from the proposed action.

Positive: Master of Education in Instructional Technology Innovation (MITI) will address stated desire from teachers and other community members for a web based M. Ed. with an education technology emphasis. By offering this course and others in the proposed MITI program, enrollment in the M. Ed. program will increase. Core M. Ed. courses will see an increase in student enrollment (ED 601, ED 603, cross-cultural studies courses). This class is part of a proposed program that is a joint venture between the School of Education and the Center for Distance Education and will be offered completely online. There is further positive benefit to students, especially those in rural Alaska, who will have greater access to the M. Ed. program.

Negative: None anticipated

JUSTIFICATION FOR ACTION REQUESTED

The purpose of the department and campus-wide curriculum committees is to scrutinize course change and new course applications to make sure that the quality of UAF education is not lowered as a result of the proposed change. Please address this in your response. This section needs to be self-explanatory. Use as much space as needed to fully justify the proposed course.

“Digital Citizenship, Internet Legal Issues, Digital Copyright and Fair Use” is one of 8 newly proposed courses that will make up the Master of Education in Instructional Technology Innovation. This entire degree will be available through asynchronous web based delivery. The targeted audience for this course and the degree program includes teachers, IT specialists in school districts, and instructional designers in an education or business setting. This course provides students with an understanding of common elements of digital citizenship models. From this vantage point, students undertake a survey of contemporary legal issues important to educators, with an emphasis on digital rights and technology legislation. Finally, students learn how copyright law and the provisions of Fair Use, including the DMCA and TEACH Act, effect and inform educational practice. All students will interact with multiple learning communities and build/strengthen their personal learning environments through collection of resources, public reflection and engagement, and creation of curriculum and professional materials.
