B. Approval of Minutes to Meetings #206
The minutes for meeting #206 were approved as submitted.

C. Adoption of Agenda
The agenda was adopted as submitted.

II Status of Chancellor's Office Actions
A. Motions Approved:
   1. Motion to approve Unit Criteria for the Journalism Department
   2. Motion to clarify DF (Deferred) grade
   3. Motion to revise UAF Faculty Senate Policy on Credit Hours
B. Motions Pending: None

III A. President's Remarks – Cécile Lardon
Cécile thanked all the Faculty Senate members for their service this past year. She thanked President-elect Debu Misra, Chancellor Rogers, and Provost Henrichs. And, she thanked Jayne Harvie for her work in the Governance Office. She commented on the work to come next year as she takes on the work of chairing the Faculty Alliance (FA).

Cécile encouraged senators to consider chairing committees of the Faculty Senate. It’s a means of gaining invaluable experience and insight. And, she encouraged involvement with the permanent committees which are open to faculty members who aren’t necessarily senators. She noted that today three faculty will be honored who played huge roles on senate subcommittees, though they were not elected members of Faculty Senate.

B. President-Elect's Remarks – Debu Misra
Debu thanked Cécile for her leadership and guidance through this year. He asked for recognition of Cécile, inviting the senators to join him in a standing ovation. He sees the challenges of next year as opportunities. He also thanked the Chancellor, noting his impending retirement. He acknowledged the work and learning experiences of the past year with the Chancellor, Provost, and the Administrative Committee. He also thanked David Valentine for his leadership of the FA.

Looking back at the issue which was raised when he became president-elect concerning his simultaneous role of org VP for the UNAC, he noted that he had not faced any conflicts of interest this year. He met the dual roles with utmost professionalism. His union role now ends, and he will be focusing completely on the Faculty Senate.

Cécile announced she meant to say something earlier with regard to the retirements of Registrar Libby Eddy and the Dean of Students, Don Foley. Libby, who was present, commented that it has been an honor and a privilege to work with the faculty and Faculty Senate.

IV A. Chancellor’s Remarks – Brian Rogers
Chancellor Rogers commented about his privilege over the last month of reviewing more than three dozen promotion and tenure files. Rather than being a chore, he described it as a delight to read about the variety of experiences, noting the thought that has gone into teaching, the creativity of research experiences, and the service to the public. It really gives him a sense of the breadth and depth of the faculty experience here at UAF.
This weekend he attended commencement ceremonies at the Kuskokwim and Bristol Bay campuses, seeing firsthand the impact of UAF in the communities. He noted the variety of degrees awarded, ranging from certificates through masters’ degrees to an honorary doctorate. He also noted that one gets a sense of how the value of the university’s mission extends well beyond the Fairbanks campus.

He had hoped to be able to tell everyone about the budget; but, the legislature hasn’t finished their work. They forwarded a budget that was only partially funded, leaving a gap of $3 billion to be covered. No one knows where things will end up. The governor called the legislature back into session and introduced an alternative budget. It adds some general funds back in for the university and would fund raises for union members. The bottom line for the state, though, is that there is still a $3 billion gap to be filled. There are four ways to address that situation, which include budget cuts, a broad-based tax like an income tax, using funds related to the PFD income; or a combination of oil prices, oil production and oil taxes. He hopes the university can be a neutral venue for discussions of these issues, and that we can do some of the analytical work to see what the impacts will be to the state, and contribute to the public dialog. The current reduction of $31 million to the general funds for the UA system will affect the level of services and programs that can continue to be offered. Reductions have been announced as a result of the special academic program reviews. They’ve also tried to create ways for programs to combine and find ways to reorganize by next December.

Chancellor Rogers stated he’s not sure what the process will be for filling his position. He has made some recommendations to President Gamble, floating two or three names of individuals as possible interim chancellor for the upcoming academic year. There’s not enough time for a standard search before he and the President step down from their positions. A full search would need to happen later in the fall, after faculty return from summer break. However, he’s not sure how the president will proceed at this time.

The Chancellor thanked all of the senators for their service. Sharing governance is not always easy, but it’s important to the academic tradition and for addressing the issues. He thanked Dr. Rainer Newberry, in particular. Throughout all the years he’s served as interim chancellor and chancellor, he noted that Rainer has chaired the Curriculum Review Committee and provided constancy in that very important role.

He commented on the Usibelli Awards, expressing his appreciation for the Usibelli family who made them possible. He congratulated all who were nominated and the recipients, noting that Provost Henrichs will read the names later in the meeting.

B. Provost’s Remarks – Susan Henrichs
2014-15 Promotion and Tenure Results Summary (Attachment 207/1)

Provost Henrichs noted that a table summarizing the results of the recent promotion and tenure reviews is included in the agenda. The vast majority of those submitting files were tenured and/or promoted because of diligent hard work in teaching, research and service. She enjoyed the work of reviewing 64 files presented this year, and is proud of the accomplishments of the faculty.

She has met with each of the departments and programs affected by the results of the special program review. She plans to continue meeting with them as they development improvement and/or merger plans. Even some of the eliminated programs may need to continue in some form (until taught out).

David V. asked about plans for the next round of special program reviews in FY17. Provost Henrichs commented that special program review will be a matter for the Planning and Budget Committee to take up next fall. What they devise will be dependent upon how the state budget discussions go, and whether they move toward resolving the state revenue issues. This is necessary in order to see a clear path in terms of what additional cuts the university may or may not expect. This information will have a large influence on what they do to shape the university for the future. So, while the PBC will consider the possibility of another special program review, they will also consider what additional approaches they can take in order to work within the financial constraints that are faced next year.

C. Interim VC for Research – Larry Hinzman

With Dr. Dan White’s appointment to the VPAAR position, Dr. Larry Hinzman is now filling the role of interim vice chancellor for research. He has been involved in research for 33 years at UAF. He views his role as a service position and invited faculty to feel free to talk with him any time and ask questions.

He spoke about the Arctic Science Summit he had attended in Japan recently. UAF will host the summit next March 2016. The summit is a good way to interact with the leaders and managers of polar programs from the NSF and NOAA. They’ve offered funds, along with the Department of Energy, for the UAF summit, so he’ll be working on those proposals. He has spoken with Senator Murkowski about the next summit, and she is enthusiastic about participating, as well. It will take place over the spring break week, and will include the weekends (approximately a total of nine days long). They’ll be hosting the Arctic Observing Summit during this time. It’s an international event and will draw many participants. He mentioned several other working groups meeting concurrently with these summit meetings. There will be one common day to allow for all the groups and their leaders to interact.

The Model Arctic Council meetings will also be hosted and involve many international students. It’s sponsored by the University of the Arctic. There is also sponsorship by the International Arctic Science Committee which coordinates all of the groups doing arctic research. UAF is fortunate that quite a few of the working group members are from UAF (he named Skip Walker and Vladimir Romanovsky); and he himself serves as vice president of that organization.

Dr. Hinzman talked about the Interagency Arctic Research Policy Committee (IARPC) which was formed in 1984 by the National Science Foundation. It grew stagnant over the past twenty years, but has since been moved to the White House by President Obama, and has become active again. Collaboration teams have been put together by IARPC to work on research strategy plans. He encouraged faculty involvement in the collaboration teams related to this. They meet once a month by phone with the program managers of various important agencies.

In spite of the tight budget times, it’s a really good time to do arctic research. It’s also important to encourage Congress to support environmental research at this time.

Amy L. noted that there has been difficulty in getting the College of Liberal Arts engaged in some the campus-wide arctic research events since they’re generally focused on the hard sciences. She would like to see some planning to engage the college and the social sciences now for the upcoming events. Larry noted that he will be chairing and coordinating the events, and he would like to start that discussion and develop ideas with his office. He brought this up with Dean Todd Sherman recently. They could, for example, host mini symposiums and workshops.

A. Presentation of the Outstanding Senator of the Year Award
B. Announcement of Usibelli Awards
C. Announcement of Emeriti Faculty Awards (Attachment 207/9)
D. Recognition of Senate Service
E. Presentation of Resolution of Appreciation for Cécile Lardon

President Cécile Lardon presented Chancellor Rogers with the resolution recognizing his service to UAF and the UA system. Chancellor Rogers then graciously presented Dr. Lardon with the Faculty Senate resolution recognizing her service as president. He also pitched in to help present the OSYA award to Dr. Brian E.G. Cook, as well as the recognition of senate service awards.

Dr. Leah Berman received a resolution to recognize her service as chair of both the Core Review Committee and the General Education Revitalization Committee, and her work at the UA system level on general education alignment.

Drs. Andrea Ferrante and Kelly Houlton were also recognized in absentia for their work on the Electronic Course Assessment Implementation (ECAI) Committee. Franz Meyer gave a brief overview of the ECAI Committee’s work and the status of the project (currently in its pilot stage).

Faculty Senate Committee Chairs were each recognized and presented with letters of appreciation.

Provost Henrichs announced the consolidation of the Usibelli Awards ceremony with a donor event which will take place in the fall. She read aloud the winners’ names: Dr. David Newman (teaching); Dr. Hajo Eicken (research); and Dr. Patricia Holloway (public service). The Provost also read aloud the names of those nominated. The complete list has been posted online at the Meetings page for May 4, 2015: http://www.uaf.edu/ufgov/faculty-senate/meetings/2014-15-fs-meetings/#207

Provost Henrichs also announced the 2015 Emeritus awards. The complete list of recipients is included as Attachment 207/9 of the agenda which posted at: http://www.uaf.edu/files/ufgov/FS-Agenda-207_5-4-2015.pdf

The BREAK occurred at approximately 2:00 PM.

VII Governance Reports
A. Staff Council – Chris Bekes

Chris reported that Staff Council will hold a meeting on June 1. They hope there will be more information about the budget situation by that time. Staff still have many questions regarding furloughs, pay increases, and layoffs.

Staff Council has passed a resolution to request representation on the UAF chancellor search committee. They hope that the UA President will appoint a staff person to that committee.
Staff are concerned about pay increase issues. Pay increases are currently included in the budget for represented employees, but not for unrepresented employees. Staff Council hopes to have some type of input about this to the state government. Some staff feel they should unionize to be treated fairly.

Officer election results were announced. Faye Gallant is the new Staff Council president, and Nate Bauer is the new vice president.

B. ASUAF
No report was available from ASUAF.

C. Athletics – Dani Sheppard
No report was available from Athletics.

D. UNAC – Sine Anahita
   UAFT – Jane Weber

Sine reported that the United Academics Representative Assembly met last week with a good turnout. They went over the union budget and are on very strong financial footing. They’ve hired an additional person to work in the local office and help streamline processes there.

UNAC has gotten the message clearly from faculty that they would like to have more clear communication between the faculty and the union. They are going to increase the functionality of the web site and use other forms of social media to strengthen communication.

They discussed the new dean’s annual review process at length. They agreed it’s been more problematic at UAF, but smoother at UAS and UAA. They’re working to clarify the intent of the CBA and improve the process for next year.

They talked at length about the budget cuts, actions of the state legislature, and the possibility that union-negotiated pay raises may not be honored.

The election for Org VP and Representative Assembly has been held this year. There were some glitches, but it has gone well overall. Next year the process will be entirely online. Results will be out this week or the next.

Jane W. reported on behalf of the Joint Health Care Committee (JHCC). She reminded everyone that open enrollment has started and goes through May 15.

VIII New Business
A. Resolution to adopt classification list system to replace Perspectives on the Human Condition of the UAF Core Curriculum, submitted by the Curricular Affairs Committee (Attachment 207/10)

Brian C. introduced the resolution which declares the intent of the Faculty Senate to adopt a classification list system to replace the Perspectives on the Human Condition (PHC) portion of the UAF Core curriculum next year. He explained that the General Education Revitalization Committee (GERC) had recommended using a classification (“bucket list”) system for courses in the Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences from which students could choose to fulfill those areas of the Core. Currently, the PHC provides a more limited list of courses to fulfill the requirements of the Core. The creation of potential course lists has been underway in GERC and Curricular Affairs.
Last April, the BOR asked for a plan to align GERs across the UA system by the Fall of 2016. Thus, any change of GERs by one university campus affects the other two. A statewide task force has been examining the alignment issues. Generally speaking, UAF would like to see some changes in the regulations, and UAA is happy with them as they currently exist (and UAS is happy either way). So, there is a stalemate situation about the changes under discussion. UAF is willing to move toward common ground, and this resolution is forward motion to signal this intent. It is not a motion because the regulations (and thus the actual types of classes that may or may not fall under the lists) are presently at issue. By moving forward with the resolution declaring UAF’s intent to change, those who are working on this at the statewide task force level (including UAA) will see that UAF is moving forward. Right now we don’t know if the UA regulations will be changed or remain the same, but once it’s determined, UAF will have to pass a motion concerning the classification system for PHC courses.

Cécile reiterated that it’s been difficult this year to move forward on these issues. She agrees with CAC that the resolution is forward motion. Without knowing what will happen with the UA regulations, it is premature for a motion.

Amy L. asked Brian for clarification about how the resolution relates to the course lists mentioned in the End of Year reports for CAC and GERC (included in the agenda). She wanted to know if the intent is to pass the lists proposed in those reports later on. Brian emphasized that the lists in the reports are NOT part of the resolution.

Rainer stated that direction we want to move forward in is the same direction as had been proposed back in September, as shown on page 38 of the agenda. The intent is to change the baccalaureate degree requirements from a specific list courses fulfilling the Perspective on the Human Condition, to a broader list of course options which students may choose from. What courses comprise the broader list, however, has yet to be worked out. Passing the resolution today would endorse this fundamental change to our baccalaureate general education requirements, and would give specific direction to next year’s Faculty Senate in this regard.

David V. commented that the resolution also serves to make sure the Faculty Senate is on board (or not, as the case may be) with what CAC and GERC have discussed and put forth as innovations. Ken A. noted the resolution is not binding as a motion would be, and the UAF Catalog doesn’t need to be updated because of it.

Leah B., chair of GERC, commented that the direction people have been discussing is the direction that has been outlined on page 40 of agenda (in the GERC report). But, the committees can’t bring something to Senate (e.g., lists of course options) for debate until the Senate has agreed this is what they want to be talking about. Thus, she feels this resolution is very important to indicate that the intention is, in fact, to go to the “bucket” list system.

The resolution was passed without objections.

B. Motion to amend Faculty Senate Committee Bylaws, submitted by the Administrative Committee (Attachment 207/11)

Cécile provided some background on the bylaws project which had been worked on by the individual Senate committees first (last year), and then by Administrative Committee. The Administrative Committee looked at the rules which address the committees in general (membership, quorum, voting, etc.). The motion details both the individual committee bylaws changes along with the more general committee bylaws.
Ken A. commented that he saw some verb tense inconsistencies, but was also concerned about what he saw as inconsistencies between committees with regard to electronic voting and proxy voting. He named some other issues such as full-time faculty appointments, and conflicts of interest and concluded that he thinks more time should be put into these proposed changes. He put forth a motion to table the motion, and it was seconded.

A vote was taken and the majority vote was to table the motion.

Cécile explained the two sections of the motion: a general rules section which would apply to all the committees, and the specific sections for each committee's bylaws. The general rules section intentionally keeps things as open as possible, so there are less specific rules about things such as voting electronically. However, the individual committees have opinions about how certain issues affect their functions, and that is why some of the committees make specifications on issues that others do not. She does not see these points as inconsistencies.

IX Presentation
Carol Gering and Team (Casey Byrne and Chris Lott)
Topic: Common Misconceptions about eLearning

After introducing her staff, Carol commented that it's been three years since eLearning was born out of the Center for Distance Education. An enormous number of changes have happened in those three years, but there are still old misconceptions about eLearning which they would like to talk about today. A handout for the material to be covered was made available, and posted on the FS meetings page.

Carol clarified that paper-based distance courses are no longer used by eLearning. Their courses are truly online and embrace the approach that students taking a course are a community of learners. There are both synchronous and asynchronous components to online courses, and social engagement between the students with each other and with the instructor is a normal part of how they function. Success rates (grades of C- and higher) for courses have risen from 55% in 2006 to 75% at present. They are striving to improve that and close the gap with traditional courses which have an 82% success rate. She stressed that eLearning is not in competition with faculty and degree programs. Its goal is to expand the university to broader audiences and facilitate student completion of degree programs. They do not keep credit hours – those are kept with the schools and colleges housing the programs. Instructors for eLearning courses are approved at the schools and colleges. Contracts and workloads are handled at the units. Enrollment management is also controlled at the schools and colleges. Instructional design is done collaboratively with instructors and eLearning asserts no claim over intellectual property.

Chris L. provided an overview about instructional design. He stressed they are there to assist faculty in developing online courses that meet their needs and goals. Casey also noted that they can assist with creating hybrid and flipped courses as well as how to incorporate more technology components into the classroom. In line with helping to expand the student pool, eLearning can provide a lot of the legwork to identify potential markets outside of Fairbanks. Chris added they provide faculty development and teaching resources to all faculty, and not only for electronic courses.

Cécile commented that students seem to feel that online courses are easier, and that faculty worry that the courses are “dumbed down” versions. Chris L. responded that the research consistently shows that this is not the case. And, UAF eLearning takes an integrated pedagogy and technology approach to meet student needs and ensure a successful learning experience.

Responding to a question about what they haven't done well, Chris responded that lab science courses are the particular challenge. High level interpersonal interaction courses are also difficult (e.g., counseling courses). Carol added that faculty who are under pressure to teach online may be reticent and don’t do well. It's also difficult to work with faculty who simply wish to “can” a course and put it online rather than look at their community of learners and tailor a course to their needs.

Julie C. asked about internet connectivity at the rural campuses and how this affects their work. Chris L. acknowledged the problem of low bandwidth and technology limitations at rural sites. They will work with faculty to scale their efforts for those environments. They always take the audience and their limitations into consideration when developing courses.

Paul L. asked about MOOCs. Chris noted that he had reported to the BOR about MOOCs a couple of years ago, saying they represent horrible pedagogy. But they do illustrate learning areas of high demand. He promotes open courses, but is not excited about the MOOC approach to that at all. It does not benefit either the university or students.

Carol announced the move of eLearning offices to the main campus (to Bunnell Building where Printing Services used to be).

X Public Comments*

Sine A. commented about the CLA’s election process and its problems this semester. Cécile provided some background about the situation at CLA and how they have been significantly understaffed at the dean’s office. They went to an electronic election process. It was certainly flawed in terms of time-line, but it was an anomaly for college and not the norm. She mentioned the tie for one of the seats which still needs to be resolved.

Brian C. and Libby E. asked that Jayne H.'s work on behalf of the Curricular Affairs Committee this past year be recognized. A round of applause was given to thank her. Donie B. also added thanks for Jayne's work on behalf of GAAC and for providing institutional memory for the Faculty Senate.

B. President’s Remarks – Debu Misra

Debu thanked everyone continuing on Faculty Senate for their hard work this past year. He thanked the new members for their willingness to serve and take up the challenges in the year to come.
Next year, Debu will regularly update the Faculty Senate on the work of the Faculty Alliance at the system level to help prepare them for any work that may need to be done at the Senate level. Work on the GERs alignment and common system calendar will be ongoing next year at the system level.

His goal is to keep members informed as much as possible. Committees will work together through the Administrative Committee, providing communication back and forth, so that when the full Senate meets, the members are well informed and ready to move forward on issues. Faculty Senate representatives need to communicate with their faculty constituents at the unit level. The more faculty input there is for the Senate, the more it will help with the decisions to be made. The Senate needs to be more timely in the decision making process, if that is possible, particularly in this present budget climate. That effort will be made.

C. President-Elect’s Remarks – Orion Lawlor

Orion acknowledged the extremely challenging set of items to be addressed in the coming year. The budget is the elephant in the room. Faculty have some opportunity to influence this process and he hopes they can have a productive relationship with the administration on that. Hard decisions will have to be made, sometimes very quickly. Incredibly, what the budget is for next year remains unknown. And, there are the mandates from the Regents to be finalized, such as the GERs alignment and the common calendar. Coordinating effectively with the Faculty Alliance on these system issues will need to be addressed. It’s a difficult process for the three Faculty Senates to work in a timely manner on those issues.

He also mentioned UAF issues to be addressed, including the new electronic course assessment implementation project, the Blue Book updates which will include research faculty, and the revisions to committee bylaws.

He noted that the heavy lifting of the Senate is done at the committee level. He and Debu are working on the composition of the committees and will get that information out soon. The committee chairs work with the Administrative Committee (which he will chair) to get things in front of the Senate. He encouraged members to ask questions, and reminded them to share information with their constituents.

XIV Provost’s Remarks – Susan Henrichs

Provost Henrichs thanked the senators for their service. Service on the Faculty Senate provides them an opportunity to branch out across the university beyond their own departments and influence the university on a larger scale. Long-term decisions with substantial ramifications, particularly for students, are made (e.g., GERs alignment, transfer credit policy). She acknowledged the pressure to act quickly and make decisions more promptly. She realizes this is challenging in light of all faculty have to do already. But with the budget dropping by $15 million on a yearly basis, decisions must be made in time to deal with the challenges. She is looking forward to next year and working with the Faculty Senate.

XV New Business
A. Motion to Approve the 2015-16 UAF Faculty Senate Meeting Calendar, submitted by the Administrative Committee (Attachment 207/21)

Debu introduced the motion on the meeting calendar. It was speedily moved and seconded, and passed without objection.

B. Update on 2015-16 Faculty Senate Committee Assignments – Debu M.
Debu explained the delay with finalizing committee assignments this spring. He and Orion will be working on them this week and will communicate with everyone very soon. They are taking the members' interests into account as much as possible. They hope to finish up by the middle of next week.

C. Motion to Authorize the Administrative Committee to act on behalf of the Senate during the summer months, submitted by the Administrative Committee (Attachment 207/22)

Debu explained that the current 2014-15 Administrative Committee will continue its work over the summer. One meeting has been planned in July at request of the chancellor to look into the interim chancellor appointment. The motion was passed with no objections.

XVI Adjournment

The meeting of the 2015-16 Faculty Senate was adjourned at 3:20 PM.

*Comments from the public are welcomed. Any subsequent assignment of an issue arising from public comment to a Senate committee is made by the Faculty Senate President.

Curricular Affairs Committee
Year End Report for 2014-15
Submitted by Brian Cook, Chair
April 30, 2015

Summary:
The Curricular Affairs Committee (CAC) primarily focused its attention on the proposals from the General Education Revitalization Committee (GERC) to revise UAF’s Core Curriculum. One part of GERC’s proposal has been passed by the Senate: the capstone requirement, due to take effect in Fall 2016. We have drafted motions for changing the O/W requirement and for removing the PHC required courses in favor of lists of courses to fulfill the humanities, arts, and social science GERs. We have discussed all of the remaining proposals, but have not yet drafted motions. Revitalizing UAF’s Core is a decade-long process that is nearly complete and needs to be a strong priority in the Senate next year. The committee strongly encourages Senate leadership to make time for the full Senate to consider and pass all the remaining proposals during 2015-16. Please see also the year-end report from GERC for additional information about changes to the Core Curriculum.

The committee also approved a number of new minor programs as well as revisions to the course catalog. It is likely that many similar revisions will come during 2015-16 as the registrar’s office transitions to a new software program intended to identify discrepancies or inconsistencies within the course catalog.

Items Completed, Passed by Senate (please see Senate minutes for more details):
2. Deletion of Bachelor of Arts and Sciences – Passed by Senate, November 3, 2014
3. New Minor in Forest Management – Passed by Senate, December 1, 2014
4. New Minor in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages – Passed by Senate, February 2, 2015
5. New Master’s Degree in Security and Disaster Management – Passed by Senate, February 2, 2015
7. Clarify DF Grading Policy – Passed by Senate, April 6, 2015
8. Update Senate Policy on Academic Credit Hour – Passed by Senate, April 6, 2015

Items Completed, Senate vote not required:
1. Motion to amend academic policy regarding transfer of credits as it pertains to national exams. The underlined statement was added to the catalog. (for details, see minutes from CAC meetings on December 10, 2014 and January 12, 2015. The motion was approved by the Administrative Committee on January 21, 2015 and did not need to go before the full Senate for consideration.)

CREDIT FOR NATIONAL EXAMS
There are several ways to earn college credit by receiving a passing score on a national exam. For any of the following exam options, grades are not computed in the UAF GPA. Credit received for exams is not considered UAF residence credit and is not considered to be part of the semester course load for classification as a full-time student. Credit is awarded to current or previously enrolled degree students at UAF. Rules that apply to transfer courses (including the Table of Substitutions) also apply to course credit received through a National Exam.
2. Minor Catalog Changes: (changes do not impact current procedure; they clarify and record in the catalog what is ALREADY BEING DONE.)

a. Minor Change to page 129 of the 2014-15 Course Catalog:
   i. Concentrations
      A concentration is an area of emphasis including the major core courses within a student’s degree program. Some programs at UAF require a concentration, others do not. A student may only earn one degree in a specific discipline once. Using different concentrations within a degree program to count as different degrees is not allowed. Double concentrations ARE permitted (but must be petitioned through the standard undergraduate petition process) WITH DEPARTMENT APPROVAL.

b. Minor change to page 86:
   i. General University Requirements
      You must earn at least 9 semester credits AT THE 100 LEVEL OR ABOVE for an occupational endorsement.

c. Minor change to page 94:
   i. General University Requirements
      You must earn at least 30 semester credits for a certificate and 60 semester credits AT THE 100 LEVEL OR ABOVE.

d. Minor change to page 94:
   i. How to Earn a Certificate of Associate Degree
      Unless otherwise specified (by the appropriate academic unit), a course may be taken more than once toward fulfilling a degree, certificate or major requirements. However, credit hours for such courses count only once toward total credits required for the degree or certificate.

e. Minor Change to page 129
   i. General University Requirements
      For a UAF bachelor’s degree, you MUST EARN at least 120 semester credits AT THE 100 LEVEL OR ABOVE, including transfer credits.

f. Minor change to page 129:
   i. How to Earn a Bachelor’s Degree
      Unless otherwise specified (by the appropriate academic unit), a course may be used more than once toward fulfilling degree, certificate, major and minor requirements. Credit hours for these courses count only once toward total credits required for the degree or certificate.

Motions drafted, but pending:

1. Resolution on GER (to be taken up by the Senate on May 4, 2015) - This resolution declares the Senate’s intent to convert to the “classification list” or “bucket” system during the 2015-16 school year. The full text reads:

WHEREAS, the University of Alaska Fairbanks Faculty Senate recognizes the need to revise the Core Curriculum; and

WHEREAS, the Senate wishes to widen student choice in the university’s general education; and
WHEREAS, the General Education Revitalization Committee has proposed a “classification list” system (lists of approved courses which fulfill arts, humanities, and social science general education requirements) to replace the current Perspectives on the Human Condition (PHC) courses;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that during the 2015-2016 academic year the UAF Faculty Senate will adopt a classification list system that will meet general education requirements in arts, humanities, and social sciences in lieu of the currently-mandated PHC courses, with the new system to take full effect as of the 2016-17 Course Catalog.

2. Motion on O/W change to communications outcomes - This motion is the first expected to be brought forward by CAC to the Administrative Committee in 2015-16, hopefully for discussion in September and for a vote in October. The text of the draft motion is current as of the date of this report:

The Faculty Senate moves to replace the upper division Oral (O) and Written (W) requirement with the requirement that each degree program must satisfy the following Communications Learning Outcomes within the degree program:

UAF undergraduates will demonstrate effective communication when they are able to:
- Explain disciplinary content using a variety of modes of communication.
- Communicate to audiences in the discipline using appropriate disciplinary conventions.
- Translate disciplinary content to audiences outside the discipline, making disciplinary knowledge relevant to broader communities.
- Integrate feedback from others to enhance or revise communication.

Each baccalaureate degree program must submit a Communications Plan that demonstrates how students will achieve each of the learning outcomes as part of the requirements of the major or degree program. Not all courses or requirements need to support every outcome; however, all the outcomes must be met by the completion of the degree.

EFFECTIVE: Fall 2016

RATIONALE: The GERC committee and Curricular Affairs, as part of their work to revise UAF’s core requirements, propose replacing the current W/O designators with a requirement that students achieve the Communications Learning Outcomes that are integrated into each baccalaureate degree program and major.

1. The responsibility for ensuring that students achieve these Communications Learning Outcomes is being moved from the University level (via specific O and W courses) to the department level (via the requirements of the degree programs), and from a specific degree requirement (taking two Ws and one O) to a requirement that is achieved by the student completing the degree requirements associated with their program.

2. To ensure student achievement of these Communications Learning Outcomes, each department will demonstrate how their program addresses these learning outcomes by developing a Communications Plan that integrates communication into each degree or program, typically via a collection of lower and/or upper level courses and/or non-curricular degree requirements chosen to meet the needs of the particular program. This should be done in such a way that all the outcomes are met somewhere in the courses required for the completion of a degree. The Communications Plan for each degree will describe the collection of courses (both in and possibly out of the department) and other requirements (if any) and how they contribute to meeting these outcomes.

3. Departments will submit the Communications Plan for each degree program as part of their SLOA plans, and subsequently, submit a short summary report addressing how the plan is working (and revising the plan as necessary). Once a department has submitted a plan, which will include a required path/collection of paths through the degree wherein students will achieve the Communications Learning Outcomes, then all students in that degree will achieve the Communications Learning Outcomes by virtue of satisfying the degree requirements of that program.
4. Committees will be formed within each school or college (and made up of at least 1 member) to regularly review communications plans submitted by programs.

5. An additional checkbox will be added to Major/Minor course change forms asking “Does this change affect Communications Outcomes Plans?”, so that departments are aware of the impact of potential changes.

6. Existing O and W designators will remain in place (if appropriate) for a period of 2 years from Fall 2016 to facilitate students under catalogs with O/W requirements.

7. Departments should submit as part of their Communications Plans a clarification for how they will handle the transition away from O/W designators for students who fall under a catalog prior to Fall 2016.

8. A web page (similar to the SLOA) will be established where communications plans are collected and disseminated across the university.

3. Motion on GER buckets (related to 1, above) – The copy of the motion included below does NOT include specific details on the specific regulations which will govern the courses included in the arts, humanities, and social science buckets. UA Regulations are currently under consideration for a revision by a statewide curriculum alignment committee with members from all three MAUs. Several issues remain with this motion beyond which regulations should be used; first, a plan needs to be developed for implementation. Included in this should be a clear process for how and who will approve the courses for each list; GERC has proposed developing a set of learning outcomes for each area to guide the review of proposed syllabuses. Another issue regards students under previous catalogs with specific PHC courses; one option is to use the current table of substitutions for transfer courses to simplify this process.

The Faculty Senate moves to replace the current Perspectives on the Human Condition (PHC) courses in the Core Curriculum with pre-approved lists of courses (“classification lists”) from which students can select to fulfill General Education Requirements in humanities, social sciences, and the arts. Students will need to complete 15 total credits: 3 credits in arts, 3 credits in humanities, 3 credits in social sciences, and 6 credits from an additional course in any one of the three areas OR from a list of interdisciplinary courses.

This change will go towards fulfilling Learning Outcome 1 of the learning outcomes adopted by Faculty Senate in 2011: Build knowledge of Human Institutions, Socio-Cultural Processes, and the Physical and Natural World through the study of the natural and social sciences, technologies, mathematics, humanities, histories, languages, and the arts.

EFFECTIVE: Fall 2016

RATIONALE: As part of its work, the General Education Revitalization Committee (GERC) has recommended this change to facilitate students’ achievement of learning outcomes previously approved by the Faculty Senate. Providing lists of courses instead of specified courses will increase the opportunity for students to choose topics most interesting to them when they are completing their general education requirements.

Further, the Board of Regents has mandated that UAF, UAA and UAS come up with a plan for aligning their general education requirements. UAF is currently the outlier in its offering very narrow options for completing general education requirements; UAA and UAS currently have pre-approved lists of courses.

Not Yet Fully Considered or Proposed:

1. Lab science and mathematics – GERC has proposed aligning UAF more closely with university regulations, which currently call for at least 10 credits in mathematics and natural science courses, at least 3 credits which must be in math and 4 credits which must be in a natural science course with a lab. Students would choose whether to take an additional natural science course (either with a lab or without) or an additional math course to complete the 10 credits. This has significant impact for transfer students, both from within the UA system and without. Currently, if a student transfers to UAF with one natural science course with a lab and one non-lab natural science course which together may have fulfilled their natural science credits elsewhere, they must take either a lab section or a full course with a lab component to fulfill the natural science requirement.
2. Decorations – GERC has proposed identifying courses which offer students various perspectives. The “decorations” A (Alaska/Arctic), D (Intercultural Competence and Diversity), and E (Civic Engagement) could be appended to any course which meets the rubric for that area (GERC has already developed these rubrics). Students would need to take at least 3 credits in each area, though those courses could also simultaneously fulfill other requirements. CAC has discussed the decorations, but the committee has not begun work on a motion.

Related Issues:
The chair of CAC has worked with Vice Provost Alex Fitts to articulate the need for increased assessment at UAF, especially of core courses. The Senate is expected to begin work on faculty-involved assessment in 2015-16. This issue is not a CAC-specific issue, but CAC has significant interest in assessment, especially given the way the proposed communications plans (to replace O/W requirements) demand assessment and feedback on that assessment (see above).

Below is a summary from a meeting where we laid out the current issues and began to talk about what could be done to solve them.

Notes from Meeting on Assessment (4/3/2015)

Present: Alex Fitts, Brian Cook, Leah Berman, Cécile Lardon, Debu Misra

- Alex says we’re not where we need to be with reviewing SLOA, based on accreditation guidelines
- New accreditation guidelines from NWCCU will place more emphasis on SLO as a main way to assess mission fulfillment
- Currently, assessment of the UAF Core is spotty and inconsistent, and some courses are not routinely assessed
- Each program should also be regularly assessed. Alex says that currently all programs now have a plan for assessment, though not all are equal in the depth to which they assess. Also, some departments are behind in submitting their SLOAs.
- Each program’s faculty should design their assessment plans and complete the assessment of their own programs. Someone (currently it’s Alex’s office) is supposed to review both the plans and assessments and offer guidance and ways to improve the means of assessment and to ensure that what is supposed to be assessed is actually being assessed.
  - Faculty are supposed to be heavily involved in the assessment review process, but that is not currently happening.
- If the current proposal for changes to the O/W system is passed, assessment will be especially important in ensuring that communications learning outcomes are being delivered.
- One idea is to have each college and school designate at least one (and in some cases more than one) faculty member to serve as the college’s assessment advisor. This person or group of people would receive training on how to develop assessment plans and would work with programs in their college to improve their SLOA plans. They would also make sure that the plan is actually assessing learning outcomes and make sure that programs are completing their SLOAs on a regular basis.
- These people would also serve on a campus-wide “Assessment Advisory Committee” that would assist with reviewing the Core and assist with other campus-wide assessment and accreditation tasks.
- The Core Review Committee would be tasked with the regular assessment of the Core (or GER) with oversight from the AAC.

The committee was fine overall with approving these updates to the Catalog language. They are in line with current UA regulations and do not go further to Administrative Committee or Faculty Senate.

III. New business

A. Definition of Credit Hour – Discussion item
1. University regulations on the definition for one credit hour changed in August 2014. The Provost is currently reviewing the change to offer her view on the impact to UAF. Senate President Lardon has asked CAC to consider revising the Course Degree Procedures Manual section on credit hour equivalencies: “we clearly need to update the Senate policy on credit hours to better reflect the variety of ways courses are taught these days. Personally, I think we need to get away from counting minutes of specific activities and move toward a more flexible definition.”

2. eLearning has made a recommendation for online courses (see attached document), which, even if we make no other changes, should be considered for inclusion in the Course Degree Procedures Manual.

3. The question before us is: do we need to make changes? It does not appear that UAF’s current policy violates UA regulations, but...

PREVIOUS Regulations: “Student effort is indicated by credit hours. One credit hour represents three hours of student work per week for a 15-week semester (e.g., one class-hour of lecture and two hours of study or three class-hours of laboratory) for a minimum of 2250 minutes of total student engagement, which may include exam periods. Equivalencies to this standard may be approved by the chief academic officer of the university or community college.”

CURRENT REGULATIONS: (R10.04.090.F.2) “A credit hour is an amount of work represented in intended learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement that is an institutionally established equivalency that reasonably approximates not less than: 1) one hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester or trimester hour of credit, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or 2) at least an equivalent amount of work for other academic activities as established by the institution, including laboratory work, internships, practica, studio work, and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours. Equivalencies to this standard may be approved by the chief academic officer of the university or community college.”

CURRENT UAF FACULTY SENATE POLICY:
http://www.uaf.edu/uafgov/faculty-senate/curriculum/course-degree-procedures-guidelines-for-computing-

UAF Faculty Senate policy states that “One academic credit hour of non-laboratory instruction at UAF will consist of a minimum of 800 minutes of instruction” (FS meeting #3, March 25, 1988). It is understood that an average student will be expected to spend 1600 minutes of study and preparation outside of class in order to meet the learning objectives for the unit of credit in lecture.

Related to credit hours is the length of the semester. This was establish as Senate policy, “The UAF Faculty Senate moves to establish a 14-week instructional period for the Fairbanks campus with provision for an additional examination period during each semester.” (FS meeting #21, October 15, 1990)

The 2007-2008 catalog (p. 226) indicates that: “One credit represents satisfactory completion of 800 minutes of lecture or 1600 or 2400 minutes of laboratory (or studio or other similar activity), whichever is appropriate. (It is understood that an average student will be expected to spend 1600 minutes of study and preparation outside of class in order to meet the learning objectives for the unit of credit in lecture.)

Credit hours may not be divided, except one-half credit hours may be granted at the appropriate rate. For short courses and classes of less than one semester in duration, course hours may not be compressed into fewer than three days per credit. Any course compressed into fewer than six weeks must be approved by the college or school's curriculum council. Furthermore, any core course compressed to less than six weeks must be approved by the Core Review Committee.
The following standards establish the minimum requirements for an academic unit of credit (FS meeting #141, February 5, 2007):

1. 800 minutes of lecture (plus 1600 minutes of study)
2. 1600 or 2400 minutes of laboratory (or studio or other similar activity)
3. 2400 - 4000 minutes of supervised practicum
4. 2400 - 8000 minutes of internship (or externship, clinical)
5. 2400 - 4800 minutes of supervised scholarly activity

Given the above information the formula used for computing credit/contact hours is 800 minutes (13.3 hrs) per credit. This equates to approximately 1 hour of lecture per week for a normal 14 week semester. The number of minutes required for one credit of laboratory (1600 or 2400) depends on the amount of instruction given during the lab. For typical science and engineering labs where students work with teaching assistant guidance performing preset exercises, 2400 minutes (3 hours/week/credit for a 14 week semester) is used. For labs in which a faculty member interacts with students and provides feedback throughout the laboratory period (clinical labs, art studio, automotive technical labs) 1600 minutes (2 hours/week/credit for a 14 week semester) is used. A course submission with a lab component should include a justification for the number of minutes of lab per credit employed.

The committee formed a subcommittee to look over the proposed changes and existing policies. Rainer Newberry, Alex Fitts and Casey Byrne were named members of the subcommittee.

IV. Old business

B. O/W Change to Communications requirement

- Current motion (forwarded from GERC – edit/notes are mine)
  - See also attached copy of the draft Communications plan form, created by GERC for use by departments
- See my suggested changes at item number 5 under Rationale and to the specified catalog changes. Rather than deleting the O/W designators and courses from the catalog, I propose we keep them for the 7 years that students could be under a different catalog that still has O/W requirements for the Core.
- Rainer has suggested removing the word “designators” from the motion and replacing it with “requirement,” which is in line with retaining the designators for a period of time.

Draft MOTION:

The General Education Revitalization Committee and the Curricular Affairs Committee recommend that the Faculty Senate moves to replace the upper division Oral (O) and Written (W) designators REQUIREMENT with the requirement that each degree program must satisfy the following Communications Learning Outcomes within the degree program: UAF undergraduates will demonstrate effective communication when they are able to:

- Explain disciplinary content using a variety of modes of communication.
- Communicate to audiences in the discipline using appropriate disciplinary conventions.
- Translate disciplinary content to audiences outside the discipline, making disciplinary knowledge relevant to broader communities.
- Integrate feedback from others to enhance or revise communication.

Each baccalaureate degree program must submit a Communications Plan that demonstrates how students will achieve each of the learning outcomes as part of the requirements of the major or degree program. Not all courses or requirements need to support every outcome; however, all the outcomes must be met by the completion of the degree.

EFFECTIVE: Fall 2016

RATIONALE: The GERC committee and Curricular Affairs, as part of its work to revise UAF’s core requirements in response to the Faculty Senate adoption of the LEAP outcomes, propose replacing the current W/O designators with a requirement that students achieve the Communications Learning Outcomes that is integrated into each baccalaureate degree program and major.

1. The responsibility for ensuring that students achieve these Communications Learning Outcomes is being moved from the University level (via specific O and W courses) to the departments (via the requirements of the degree programs), and from a specific degree requirement (taking two Ws and one O) to a requirement that is transparent to the student and is achieved simply by the student completing the degree requirements associated with their program.

2. To ensure student achievement of these Communications Learning Outcomes, each department will demonstrate how they address these learning outcomes by developing a Communications Plan that integrates communication at the lower- and upper-level into each degree or program, typically via a collection of courses and/or non-curricular degree requirements chosen to meet the needs of the particular program, in such a way that all the outcomes are met somewhere in the collection of courses. The Communications Plan for each degree will describe the collection of courses (possibly, both in and out of the department) and other requirements (if any) and how they contribute to meeting these outcomes.

3. Departments will submit the Communications Plan for each degree program as part of their SLOA plans, and subsequently, by submitting a short summary report addressing how the plan is working (and revising the plan as necessary). Once a department has submitted a plan, which will include a required path/collection of paths through the degree wherein students will achieve the Communications Learning Outcomes, then all students in that degree will achieve the Communications Learning Outcomes by virtue of satisfying the degree requirements of that program.

4. To facilitate implementation, GERC recommends an ad hoc committee be formed to review the initial Communications Plans. They suggest the addition of an additional checkbox on Major/Minor course change forms asking “does this change affect Communications Outcomes Plans?”, so that departments are aware of potential changes.

5. EXISTING O AND W COURSES AND DESIGNATORS SHOULD REMAIN IN PLACE FOR A PERIOD OF 7 YEARS FROM FALL 2016 TO FACILITATE STUDENTS UNDER CATALOGS WITH O/W REQUIREMENTS.

6. Faculty Senate should determine how best to assess how well departments and majors are achieving the Communications outcomes as implemented in the Communications plan associated with each program and degree. GERC recommend a long-term committee that can serve as a resource for communications-related courses, as well as to assess the long-term efficacy of Communications plans.

7. Finally, GERC recommends a web page (similar to the SLOA) where communications plans are collected and disseminated across the university.

CAPS = additions
[[ ]] = deletions

This motion will delete CHANGE the following statements from in the 2014-15 2016-17 UAF Catalog:

Page 132, Course Recommendations for the Baccalaureate Core, fourth sentence:

Courses meeting the upper division writing-intensive and oral communication-intensive requirements for the baccalaureate core FOR STUDENTS UNDER CATALOGS PRIOR TO FALL 2016 are identified in the course description of the catalog with the following designators:
- O—oral communication intensive course
- W—writing intensive course
Two courses designated O/2 are required to complete the oral intensive requirement.

And page 133, final section of the listing under “Baccalaureate Core”:

[[Upper-Division Writing and Oral Communication
Complete the following at the upper-division level:
Two writing intensive courses designated (W) and one oral communication intensive course designated (O), or two oral communication intensive courses designated (O/2) (see degree and/or major requirements)]]

And page 136-7, text in boxes across top row of chart:

[[2 designated upper-division writing-intensive (W) and either 1 designated upper-division oral-intensive (O) course or 2 upper-division oral-intensive courses designated 0/2]]

And page 248, Special or Reserved Numbers, first paragraph, second sentence:

Courses with suffixes O or W meet upper division writing intensive or oral communication intensive course requirements for the baccalaureate core FOR STUDENTS UNDER CATALOGS PRIOR TO FALL 2016.

And page 249, under Course Credits:

O—Oral Communication Intensive Course
W—Writing Intensive Course
Courses meeting upper-division writing and oral communication intensive requirements for the baccalaureate core are identified in the course description section of the catalog with the suffixes O and W FOR STUDENTS UNDER CATALOGS PRIOR TO FALL 2016. Two courses designated O/2 are required to complete the oral communication intensive requirement.
The committee discussed the draft motion at length. Doug G. reported that Dean’s Council reception to the idea that departments develop and assess individual Communications degree requirement plans was in the “positive – lukewarm” range. It had a similar reception at the CEM department chairs’ meeting. Overall, the chairs liked the flexibility it allows. No major concerns were express by either group that Doug spoke with.

Most of the discussion centered around the rationale item #5 and how long Os and Ws will remain in place. Confusion for newer students might be lessened if the Os and Ws were removed in a shorter time-frame (say 2-3 years rather than 7) and the Registrar’s Office could code them into DegreeWorks to handle students graduating under older catalogs. Other specific wording changes were suggested for #5. The committee agreed that 7 years could be reduced to “at least 3 years.”

It was also agreed that a department does no harm if the status quo remains in place; the department would simply need to state that in their Communication Plan.

Holly mentioned they could provide some rough data showing how many students are falling under what catalog year to give the committee an idea of how many students would be affected by changes.

The potentially confusing effect to students of simultaneously occurring changes to the GERs, O and W designations, and the possible addition of new attributes was mentioned.

Requiring departments to submit transition plans was supported by the committee. Who should review these plans was also discussed at length. The need for guidelines to approve department plans was discussed. The need for a plan to review the new departmental plans was mentioned, as well as guidelines for accepting or rejecting the plans. Brian will take these concerns and issues back to the Core Review Committee.

Item B (below) was postponed until the next meeting (March 23) due to time constraints.

C. Motion to replace PHC courses

DRAFT MOTION:

The Faculty Senate moves to replace the current Perspectives on the Human Condition (PHC) courses in the Core Curriculum with pre-approved lists of courses from which students can select to fulfill General Education Requirements in humanities, social sciences, and the arts. Students will need to complete 15 total credits: 3 credits in arts, 3 credits in humanities, 6 credits in social sciences, and 3 credits from an additional course in any one of the three areas.
This change will go towards fulfilling Learning Outcome 1 of the learning outcomes adopted by Faculty Senate in 2011: Build knowledge of Human Institutions, Socio-Cultural Processes, and the Physical and Natural World through the study of the natural and social sciences, technologies, mathematics, humanities, histories, languages, and the arts.

EFFECTIVE: Fall 2016

RATIONALE: As part of its work, the General Education Revitalization Committee (GERC) has recommended this change to facilitate students’ achievement of learning outcomes previously approved by the Faculty Senate. Providing lists of courses instead of specified courses will increase the opportunity for students to choose topics most interesting to them when they are completing their general education requirements.

Further, the Board of Regents has mandated that UAF, UAA and UAS come up with a plan for aligning their general education requirements. UAF is currently the outlier in its offering very narrow options for completing general education requirements; UAA and UAS currently have pre-approved lists of courses.

The 3 areas (arts, humanities, social sciences) and the number of credits required in each area follow current university regulations:

Questions:
- Should we specify that during the implementation process, the current table of substitutions for transfer courses would be used to allow students under previous catalogs to fulfill PHC course requirements?
- Do we wait until later to deal with the proposal for “decorating” courses with the A (Alaska/Arctic), D (Diversity), E (Civic Engagement)?
- Do we specify a committee to review proposals for listing courses on the arts, humanities, and social science lists? Should it be Core Review? An ad hoc committee? We should ensure that its composition be at minimum one rep from each college or school.

Rainer mentioned that progress of the committee was very slow.

V. Approve minutes from Mar. 9 meeting (attached)

Meeting minutes for March 9 were approved as submitted.

VI. Catalog Changes (Recommended by Registrar Libby Eddy)

A. From page 46 of the 14-15 catalog:
   DF Deferred — This designation is used for courses such as theses and special projects, which require more than one semester to complete. It indicates that course requirements cannot be completed or when institutional equipment breakdown resulted in noncompletion by the end of the semester. Credit may be withheld without penalty until the course requirements are met within an approved time.

1. Libby and Holly say that the looseness of the statement "within an approved time" has led to some faculty not specifying a time frame and then ultimately not choosing to assign a final grade, preferring the DF to giving a student a failing grade. A DF is not like an incomplete (I), which defaults to an F after one year. At the moment, a DF can remain indefinitely on a student's transcript. They do not receive credit until a grade is assigned, but it also doesn't count for or against their GPA.
2. For clarity, DF grades can be assigned to undergraduate or graduate students; CAC is only considering the DF's use for UNDERGRADUATE students.
3. The wording of "within an approved time" matches the language in UA regulations. The question is if UAF should have additional guidelines for assigning the DF grade and/or for how long it can appear on a student's transcript without penalty. And, if there is to be a penalty, what should it be?
4. Rainer has recommended a form, similar to the one in use for Incompletes.
5. From Libby: “Our students in rural health care practicums and community health programs need more than one year to complete their work. The form would have to allow the faculty to specify a time or have a default time frame (two years?). I’ve talked with the Provost about the need to have the grade change from DF to something - she’d prefer a withdrawal.”
6. There are also a considerable number of DF grades currently assigned that need to be resolved, per Holly.

Holly and Libby explained the issues with the DF grades. Graduation can be held up, and student aid can be affected when “DF” is not resolved in a timely manner. Changing “DF” to “W” after two years meets the non-punitive intent of the regulation for this grade.
While it is being used as intended in many cases, there appear to be some two-year programs which are mis-using it. It was agreed any action should only affect undergraduate courses, not graduate level.

The pros and cons were discussed of using a form to extend the “DF” grade beyond two years. The idea was not pursued.

How to remedy the situation of many old “DF” grades on the books was discussed. Faculty could be provided the opportunity to turn in grades; after which remaining “DF” grades would be turned into “W”. Libby will be consulting with the Provost on how to resolve the past grades.

The committee decided to send a motion to the Administrative Committee for Faculty Senate. Cindy Hardy also agreed to take the issue to the SADA Committee for input before Administrative Committee meets.

B. Minimum Grade for Certificate and Associate Degree
   1. Currently is listed as a D, as this was not changed by the move to the C- minimum for Bachelor’s Degrees.
   2. Some students who move into a BA program encounter issues with core and/or major classes they’ve taken for the Associate’s Degree. The D grade counts for their Associate’s, but they would have to re-take the class if they move to a Bachelor’s program.
   3. Libby doesn’t have a recommendation, but just wants clear confirmation of which grade should be the minimum.

The question isn’t that a D is the listed grade; it’s that no minimum grade is currently listed, and so confusion about the true minimum grade is common. Do the requirements that specify the C- as the minimum for UAF “Core” courses apply to Certificate and Associate students, when the classes they take are called “certificate requirements” or “degree requirements” and aren’t technically called “core.” We agreed to interpret the statements on pages 97-99 referring to “Baccalaureate Core” to allow the C- to be used as a minimum grade for those courses only going forward. CAC will have to take up the issue next year, as the original change to C- for “core and major courses” is unclear for certificate and associate’s courses, and also may not address baccalaureate requirements (as distinct from core courses). Cindy has indicated that SADA will also begin work on clarifying some of these issues.

VII. Old business

A. Definition of Credit Hour
   1. Proposed change, from Rainer’s subcommittee:

   Proposed UAF Faculty Senate Policy on Academic Credit [ ] = existing, but to be removed; ___ to be added.
   A credit hour represents an amount of work that reasonably approximates not less than:
   1. one hour of classroom or other faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or
2. at least an equivalent amount of work for other academic activities, including laboratory work, internships, practice, studio work, and other academic work.

[One academic credit hour of non-laboratory instruction at UAF will consist of a minimum of 800 minutes of instruction. It is understood that an average student will be expected to spend 1600 minutes of study and preparation outside of class in order to meet the learning objectives for the unit of credit in lecture.]

The following standards establish the minimum requirements for one academic unit of credit for the course formats commonly used at UAF:

1. 800 minutes of lecture or equivalent instructional activities plus 1600 minutes of student work outside of class.
2. 1600 minutes of laboratory (or studio or other similar activity) plus 800 minutes of student work outside of class.
3. 2400 minutes of laboratory (or studio or other similar activity)
4. 2400 - 4800 minutes of supervised practicum
5. 2400 - 8000 minutes of internship (or externship, clinical)
6. 2400 - 4800 minutes of supervised scholarly activity

Credit hours may not be divided, except one-half credit hours may be granted at the appropriate rate.

For short courses and classes of less than one semester in duration, course hours may not be compressed into fewer than three days per credit. Any existing semester-long course that is to be offered in a “compressed to less than six weeks” format must be approved by the college or school’s curriculum council and the appropriate UAF Faculty Senate Committee (SADA, Core Review, Curriculum Review or GAAC). Any new course proposal must indicate those course compression format(s) in which the course will be taught. Only approved course formats will be allowed for scheduling.

Given the above information the formula used for computing credit/contact hours is 800 minutes (13.3 hrs) per credit. This equates to approximately 1 hour of lecture per week for a normal 14 week semester. For courses that do not employ lectures, but that are intended to achieve learning outcomes equivalent to those of a lecture course (e.g., some eLearning classes), 800 minutes of structured instructional activities are expected per credit, in addition to at least 1600 minutes/credit of other work that the student completes independently. “Structured instructional activities” is not intended to mean synchronous interaction with an instructor, but rather faculty-designed instructional activity intended to facilitate student learning.

Proposed statement for UAF Catalog:
A credit represents an amount of work that reasonably approximates not less than:

1. one hour of classroom or other faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or
2. at least an equivalent amount of work for other academic activities, including laboratory work, internships, practice, studio work, and other academic work.

[One credit represents satisfactory completion of 800 minutes of lecture or 1600 or 2400 minutes of laboratory (or studio or other similar activity), whichever is appropriate. (It is understood that an average student will be expected to spend 1600 minutes of study and preparation outside of class in order to meet the learning objectives for the unit of credit in lecture.)]

CAC members discussed the proposed changes and agreed to send this change to the Administrative Committee for the Faculty Senate agenda.

F. O/W Change to Communications requirement

- Current version (below) reflects changes we made in the last CAC meeting.

Draft MOTION:

The General Education Revitalization Committee and the Curricular Affairs Committee recommend that the Faculty Senate moves to replace the upper division Oral (O) and Written (W) designators REQUIREMENT with the requirement that each degree program must satisfy the following Communications Learning Outcomes within the degree program: UAF undergraduates will demonstrate effective communication when they are able to:

- Explain disciplinary content using a variety of modes of communication.
- Communicate to audiences in the discipline using appropriate disciplinary conventions.
- Translate disciplinary content to audiences outside the discipline, making disciplinary knowledge relevant to broader communities.
- Integrate feedback from others to enhance or revise communication.

Each baccalaureate degree program must submit a Communications Plan that demonstrates how students will achieve each of the learning outcomes as part of the requirements of the major or degree program. Not all courses or requirements need to support every outcome; however, all the outcomes must be met by the completion of the degree.

EFFECTIVE: Fall 2016

RATIONALE: The GERC committee and Curricular Affairs, as part of their work to revise UAF’s core requirements in response to the Faculty Senate adoption of the LEAP outcomes, propose replacing the current W/O designators with a requirement that students achieve the Communications Learning Outcomes that is integrated into each baccalaureate degree program and major.

1. The responsibility for ensuring that students achieve these Communications Learning Outcomes is being moved from the University level (via specific O and W courses) to the departments (via the requirements of the degree programs), and from a specific degree requirement (taking two Ws and one O) to a requirement that is transparent to the student and is achieved simply by the student completing the degree requirements associated with their program.

2. To ensure student achievement of these Communications Learning Outcomes, each department will demonstrate how they address these learning outcomes by developing a Communications Plan that integrates communication at the lower- and upper-level into each degree or program, typically via a collection of courses and/or non-curricular degree requirements chosen to meet the needs of the particular program, in such a way that all the outcomes are met somewhere in the collection of courses. The Communications Plan for each degree will describe the collection of courses (possibly, both in and out of the department) and other requirements (if any) and how they contribute to meeting these outcomes.

3. Departments will submit the Communications Plan for each degree program as part of their SLOA plans, and subsequently, by submitting a short summary report addressing how the plan is working (and revising the plan as necessary). Once a department has submitted a plan, which will include a required path/collection of paths through the degree wherein students will achieve the Communications Learning Outcomes, then all students in that degree will achieve the Communications Learning Outcomes by virtue of satisfying the degree requirements of that program.
4. To facilitate implementation, GERC recommends an ad hoc committee be formed to review the initial Communications Plans. They suggest the addition of an additional checkbox on Major/Minor course change forms asking “does this change affect Communications Outcomes Plans?”, so that departments are aware of potential changes.

5. EXISTING O AND W DESIGNATORS WILL REMAIN IN PLACE (IF APPROPRIATE) FOR A PERIOD OF 2 YEARS FROM FALL 2016 TO FACILITATE STUDENTS UNDER CATALOGS WITH O/W REQUIREMENTS.

6. Departments should submit as part of their Communications Plans a clarification for how they will handle the transition away from O/W designators for students who fall under a catalog prior to Fall 2016.

7. Faculty Senate should determine how best to assess how well departments and majors are achieving the Communications outcomes as implemented in the Communications plan associated with each program and degree. GERC recommend a long-term committee that can serve as a resource for communications-related courses, as well as to assess the long-term efficacy of Communications plans.

8. Finally, GERC recommends a web page (similar to the SLOA) where communications plans are collected and disseminated across the university.

This motion will delete CHANGE the following statements from in the 2014-15 2016-17 UAF Catalog:

Page 132, Course Recommendations for the Baccalaureate Core, fourth sentence:

Courses meeting the upper division writing-intensive and oral communication-intensive requirements for the baccalaureate core FOR STUDENTS UNDER CATALOGS PRIOR TO FALL 2016 are identified in the course description of the catalog with the following designators:

O—oral communication intensive course
W—writing intensive course

Two courses designated O/2 are required to complete the oral intensive requirement.

And page 133, final section of the listing under “Baccalaureate Core”:

[[Upper-Division Writing and Oral Communication
Complete the following at the upper-division level:
Two writing intensive courses designated (W) and one oral communication intensive course designated (O), or two oral communication intensive courses designated (O/2) (see degree and/or major requirements)]]

And page 136-7, text in boxes across top row of chart:

[[2 designated upper-division writing-intensive (W) and either 1 designated upper-division oral-intensive (O) course or 2 upper-division oral-intensive courses designated O/2]]
Courses with suffixes O or W meet upper division writing intensive or oral communication intensive course requirements for the baccalaureate core FOR STUDENTS UNDER CATALOGS PRIOR TO FALL 2016.

O—Oral Communication Intensive Course
W—Writing Intensive Course
Courses meeting upper-division writing and oral communication intensive requirements for the baccalaureate core are identified in the course description section of the catalog with the suffixes O and W FOR STUDENTS UNDER CATALOGS PRIOR TO FALL 2016. Two courses designated O/2 are required to complete the oral communication intensive requirement.

CAC members agreed to send this discussion item to the Administrative Committee, and possibly the Faculty Senate depending upon the discussion at AdCom. Approval of department plans was discussed at length, as well as the related issue of assessment. Assessment is an important piece of this and is required by the university’s accreditation. However, it would be too much work for the Provost’s Office and Faculty Senate to review assessment of every department plan. Assessment would be most feasible at the college / school department level. Faculty Senate could possibly review the process that was used to assess outcomes at the department level. Assessment itself is a faculty responsibility.

The items below were not discussed due to time contraints.

G. Statewide Gen Ed committee update – Rainer Newberry

H. Motion to replace PHC courses

DRAFT MOTION:
The Faculty Senate moves to replace the current Perspectives on the Human Condition (PHC) courses in the Core Curriculum with pre-approved lists of courses from which students can select to fulfill General Education Requirements in humanities, social sciences, and the arts. Students will need to complete 15 total credits: 3 credits in arts, 3 credits in humanities, 6 credits in social sciences, and 3 credits from an additional course in any one of the three areas.

This change will go towards fulfilling Learning Outcome 1 of the learning outcomes adopted by Faculty Senate in 2011: Build knowledge of Human Institutions, Socio-Cultural Processes, and the Physical and Natural World through the study of the natural and social sciences, technologies, mathematics, humanities, histories, languages, and the arts.

EFFECTIVE: Fall 2016

RATIONALE: As part of its work, the General Education Revitalization Committee (GERC) has recommended this change to facilitate students’ achievement of learning outcomes previously approved by the Faculty Senate. Providing lists of courses instead of specified courses will increase the opportunity for students to choose topics most interesting to them when they are completing their general education requirements.

Further, the Board of Regents has mandated that UAF, UAA and UAS come up with a plan for aligning their general education requirements. UAF is currently the outlier in its offering very narrow options for completing general education requirements; UAA and UAS currently have pre-approved lists of courses.

The 3 areas (arts, humanities, social sciences) and the number of credits required in each area follow current university regulations:

Current General Education University Regulations:

</tbody>
</table>

Questions:
- Should we specify that during the implementation process, the current table of substitutions for transfer courses would be used to allow students under previous catalogs to fulfill PHC course requirements?
- Do we wait until later to deal with the proposal for “decorating” courses with the A (Alaska/Arctic), D (Diversity), E (Civic Engagement)?
- Do we specify a committee to review proposals for listing courses on the arts, humanities, and social science lists? Should it be Core Review? An ad hoc committee? We should ensure that its composition be at minimum one rep from each college or school.

I. Probation/disqualification policy – still on hold.
The General Education Revitalization Committee (GERC) met on an ad hoc basis during the fall semester, and met biweekly during the spring semester.

1 Communications in the upper-division

The primary occupation of GERC during the fall was to redesign the “communications” upper-division requirement, after receiving feedback from CAC that they didn’t like the requirement included as part of GERC’s final report in Spring 2014. The requirement as initially proposed was that students would be required to take three courses labelled with a “C”, directly analogous to the current O and W requirement.

After much discussion, including dragooning on an ad hoc basis two engineers and a biologist, GERC developed a new proposal. This proposal includes the development of four Communications Learning Outcomes that students graduating from any baccalaureate degree program would have to satisfy, as well as a requirement that each baccalaureate program would need to submit a Communications Plan, probably as part of the SLOA, detailing how students graduating with that degree would satisfy the Communications Learning Outcomes. Note that this new proposal is in addition to the current requirements that students take two lower-division writing intensive courses (currently ENGL 111 and 211 or 213) and one oral communications course (currently COMM 121/131/141).

GERC’s hope is that this proposed new structure will allow departments and programs more flexibility in helping students achieve these learning outcomes, while still making it clear that these outcomes are an important part of the Common Baccalaureate Requirements.

This new proposal was submitted to and discussed and passed at CAC. It briefly appeared (and then was tabled) at Faculty Senate. GERC and CAC also hosted a “Town Hall” discussion on the new proposal in late Spring.

2 General Education Requirements

In addition to the discussion of the communications requirement, GERC also began discussing implementation details for the rest of the common baccalaureate requirements proposed in their final report from 2014. In particular, the “general education” requirements—those that primarily support Learning Out- come 1, develop knowledge...—were discussed, at the point it became clear what the effects of the Board of Regents’ resolution on alignment of general education requirements across the system were.

As a preliminary fact-finding mission, the chair of GERC emailed schools, colleges, and departments across UAF to solicit courses that departments would like to see be in “buckets”, primarily for Humanities, Social Sciences and Arts; GERC also proposes having an “interdisciplinary” Humanities/Arts/Social Sciences bucket. She received quite good response from around the university.

GERC proposes that the current “Perspectives” requirement be replaced with the following requirement:
Students must take 5 3-credit courses: one course from a “Humanities” list, one course from a “Social Sciences” list, one course from an “Arts” list, and two other courses, either from the Humanities/Social Science/Arts list, or from a list of interdisciplinary courses that combine (some of) those three areas.

Courses satisfying this requirement may also be used to satisfy major or minor requirements, but not degree requirements.

A resolution supporting the general idea of buckets (but not the specifics of the implementation as described above) is currently under review at Faculty Senate.

In order for this to be implementable, lists of outcomes for Humanities, Social Science and Arts courses will need to be developed, faculty will need to submit courses and rationales as to how/why those courses satisfy those objectives, and some committee (TBD) will need to review the applications and populate the buckets.

3 Alignment

The chair of GERC also was one of the three UAF representatives to the Statewide General Education Alignment Task Force. As part of that process, GERC proposes (to CAC, where it’s still under review) that UAF revise its current requirement for natural sciences and mathematics to be the following:

Students must take three courses, each of which is at least three credits, in Natural Sciences and Mathematics, from lists of approved courses in natural science and mathematics. One of these courses must be a natural science course with laboratory and one of these courses must be a mathematics course. (The third course can either be a natural science course or a mathematics course.)

Note this proposal was developed in consultation with members from CAC and is a change from the original proposal put forward by GERC in Spring 2014. This proposal would also fix some transfer problems caused by the fact that UAA and UAS allow non-lab science courses; currently students who take such courses cannot transfer them in such a way as to satisfy the GER at UAF.

4 Future Directions

Attendance at GERC meetings was sporadic and people are tired. The chair recommends that GERC be officially dissolved, but that certain members of GERC consult (perhaps officially, as ex officio members of CAC, or unofficially via one-on-one conversations) on the implementation processes for the revision to the current core, as pieces of GERC’s spring 2014 proposal are (hopefully) passed by Faculty Senate. Still to do:

- Implement the General Education Requirements section of the GERC proposal. This mostly entails modifying the current PHC requirement.
  - In particular, develop “buckets” to replace the current PHC requirements.

- Have Faculty Senate pass a resolution approving the basic idea of buckets to replace the current PHC requirements (on the agenda)

- Develop a collection of outcomes for each proposed bucket, perhaps by convening ad hoc committees from CLA for each of the buckets Humanities, Social Science, Arts, Interdisciplinary

- Develop a process for determining whether a proposed course satisfies the outcomes for the bucket it is proposed for

- A committee approves a draft list of courses for each bucket
Faculty Senate gives final approval for the list of courses for each bucket

Faculty Senate approves the requirement that students need to take a certain number of courses from buckets, with some approved distribution (e.g., 5 courses, one from each of H/A/SS buckets and 2 from any of those plus interdisciplinary).

- Revise the current requirement for natural sciences and mathematics to allow one math, one lab science, one either.

- Continue to work on implementing the Civic Engagement requirement from the GERC proposal, by implementing a “decorations” requirement

  - Faculty Senate passes a resolution approving the general idea of requiring decorated courses— note it is anticipated that many GER courses will be eligible to be decorated, and courses that are “decorated” may satisfy degree, major, minor or GER requirements (although a decorated course that satisfies a GER cannot also satisfy a degree requirement)

  - Revise the rubrics for Alaska and the Circumpolar North (A), Civic Engagement (C) and Intercultural Competence and Diversity (D) that were drafted by last year’s GERC.

  - Develop a process for approving courses to be decorated

  - Solicit and approve courses

  - Faculty Senate passes the final requirement

- Finish the new communications requirement

  - Faculty Senate passes the new requirement

  - Finalize a process for developing and submitting initial communications plans

  - Develop a process for assessing the communications plans
End-of-year Report
Faculty Affairs Committee
May 2015

Membership
The Faculty Affairs Committee (FAC) for AY 2014-2015 originally consisted of members Elizabeth Allman, Chris Fallen, Galen Johnson, Julie Joly, Leslie McCartney, Walter Skya, and David Valentine. The Ex Officio member was Bella Gerlich. Julie Joly convened the first FAC meeting (September) but external commitments required her to resign from the committee before the second meeting (October). Chris Fallen was nominated and elected to chair. Bella Gerlich resigned from the committee in January to take a position at another university and John Eichelberger joined the committee in February as the Ex Officio member for the remainder of the year.

Face-to-face FAC meetings were held monthly and a “Google Group” was used for online discussion and announcements. A shared “Google Drive” folder was used for collaborative editing of selected FAC documents. Ownership of the electronic Group and folder will be transferred from Chris Fallen to the next FAC chair, upon request.

Walter Skya volunteered to convene the first FAC meeting of AY 2015-2016.

Actions and Discussions

Committee by-laws
The first request of the Administrative Committee (AdCom) to all committees was for each to review and revise their respective by-laws, specifically to re-evaluate the committee charge and to specify committee procedures. Two significant changes were made to the committee charge.

One of the charges in the FAC by-laws is to act as a faculty advocate to elected officials. FAC decided that other organizations such as the unions are better faculty advocates, but that communication of faculty issues to relevant and influential parties outside the university is important. Therefore, the charge was revised to state that FAC shall enhance communication with public officials including the University of Alaska (UA) Board of Regents (BoR).

Another charge in the FAC by-laws is to review notices by the University of Alaska of financial exigency. The committee decided that its members typically do not have the expertise or ready access to appropriate data to meaningfully evaluate such notices of university financial exigency. Consequently, FAC eliminated this charge from its by-laws.

FAC submitted its revised bylaws to AdCom.

Department chair policy
AdCom requested that FAC revise the academic department chair policy because the policy had not been revised in many years and particularly because parts of the policy were in apparent conflict with the new UNAC collective bargaining agreement (CBA). Several interested parties provided useful input regarding revisions to the department chair policy. This issue took significant FAC resources to resolve largely due to the policy revision regarding who is eligible to be nominated and to serve as department chair.

Specifically, one interpretation of the CBA is that department chairs and represented faculty shall not have administrative supervisory capacity over other represented faculty. However, a small number of departments (approximately 10%) are chaired by faculty administrators with greater than 50% administrative workload. This appears to work well for some of those departments and cause significant contention in others and occurs through a variety of circumstances. The old department chair policy did specify restrictions on who was allowed to be department chair, but there was also a mechanism in the policy that essentially allowed for unlimited and unchecked exceptions to the restriction.

Ultimately, FAC was unable to construct a concise general eligibility restriction without a lengthy list of exceptions that satisfied a majority of FAC or AdCom. Even seemingly reasonable restrictions such as “only tenured faculty may serve as department chair” cause problems because some departments have no or very few tenured faculty. FAC and AdCom changed the eligibility restriction to a guideline which was both consistent with the CBA and allowed flexibility for the variety of departments at UAF.

FAC submitted a motion for revisions to the department chair policy to AdCom and the UAF Faculty Senate. The motion passed.

Student code of conduct

The University of Alaska Anchorage (UAA) Faculty Senate studied the BoR policy and UA regulations regarding the student code of conduct (SCC) and passed a resolution proposing revisions to the SCC. The revisions largely were intended to clarify elements of the SCC, particularly in regards to appropriate student use of technology. The UA Faculty Alliance requested that the respective Faculty Senates of UAF and the University of Alaska Southeast pass resolutions supporting SCC revisions proposed by UAA.

FAC found that the proposed revisions did not weaken the current SCC and that any perceived minor deficiencies in certain revisions were offset by the benefit of having a consistent SCC across all UA campuses. A resolution of support of the revisions proposed by UAA, containing one small change, was approved by FAC. The change contributed by FAC was to generalize language regarding plagiarism of a “persons” to “others” in recognition that commonly available “artificial intelligence” can, for example, currently provide derivations of solutions to mathematical problems and likely someday soon even provide essays on demand.

FAC submitted a resolution of support for revisions to the SCC to AdCom and the UAF Faculty Senate. The motion passed unanimously.

Unfinished Business

Joint appointments

An ad hoc Joint Appointment Committee studied and reported on issues regarding evaluation and tenure of faculty holding joint appointments. The committee was composed of faculty holding joint appointments. FAC invited the chair of the committee, Bill Bristow, to discuss and summarize the committee’s report of findings and recommendations. FAC was not in full agreement on all of the recommendations and wording in the report but generally decided that the Joint Appointment Committee thoroughly investigated the relevant issues. The committee agreed in particular that the hiring letter for faculty should specify which unit criteria will be used for faculty evaluation. FAC was in agreement that most of the Joint Appointment Committee’s recommendations should be implemented in the UAF “Blue Book.” One minor complication is that at the time of this report, the Blue Book was in a final stage of revision so the committee discussed whether the Joint Appointments recommendations should be included in the current Blue Book through a motion for revision to the UAF Faculty Senate, or whether the recommendations should simply be included in the draft revised Blue Book which also must be approved by the Senate.

This FAC decided that this task is best assigned to the next FAC given the limited available time to act and the potential to do harm. Careful consideration of the recommendations and the Blue Book is required since, for example, it is not even immediately clear where new definitions should be inserted since the numbering schemes in the documents are inconsistent. A copy of the Joint Appointment Committee’s report is available by request from either Bill Bristow or Chris Fallen.

April 21 and March 24 Meeting Minutes included (next page).

Meeting Minutes: Tuesday, April 21, 2015 3:40 PM, Conference Room, Murie Building, UAF

Present: Elizabeth Allman, Chris Fallen, David Valentine

Absent: Dean John Eichelberger (Ex officio), Galen Johnson, Leslie McCartney, Walter Skya

Meeting called to order at 3:45 p.m.

Minutes of March 24, 2015 approved.
Agenda approved.

Joint Appointments:
The group decided that this task is best assigned to a fresh Faculty Affairs Committee. There is potential for harm in putting the Joint Appointments (JA) Committee’s recommendations into the current Blue Book (not the one in the process of being merged and revised) without careful consideration. For instance, it is not clear exactly where the definitions proposed by JA should be inserted because the numbering schemes are not consistent.

FAC end-of-year report:
The group made helpful corrections and suggestions that will be incorporated into the Chair’s final end-of-year report.

UAF budget and program review:
The group cannot do much about this situation and the perceived lack of transparency in the program review. One observation made was that there is a common assumption that students enrolled in a program targeted for elimination will be provided an opportunity to complete that program in a timely manner, which necessitates extended need for the program faculty. This is in fact not necessarily correct; students will instead be provided an opportunity to complete an equivalent program that may, for example, be facilitated through online instruction. Therefore, faculty positions have the potential to be eliminated on a more rapid timescale than is generally assumed.

Convener of the next Faculty Affairs Committee:
Walter Skya volunteered by email correspondence to convene the next FAC meeting.

Adjourned at 4:25 p.m.

Student Code of Conduct:
David has made revisions. A few spelling corrections need to be made then it is ready to go to the Administrative Committee.

Joint Appointments:
Group felt that the narrative needs to be tighter with clearer wording. Everyone is to review the report, comment and then it will be passed on to the next faculty affairs committee. It was agreed that the hiring letter should spell out what unit criteria you are to be judged on and who will be evaluating your work. Put this on the agenda for next meeting.

  - Journalism (CLA); new for 14-15

- The Unit Criteria Committee is currently reviewing proposed criteria from the following unit and is scheduled to consider their document again on 4/28/15:
  - Justice (CLA); earlier drafts reviewed on 3/10/15, 3/31/15, and 4/14/15.

- The Unit Criteria Committee drafted and submitted changes to its Bylaws for inclusion in the Faculty Senate’s ongoing project of revising its bylaws documents; these changes clarify voting procedures for the committee.

- The Unit Criteria Committee developed, approved, and posted to our part of the Faculty Senate webpage a document offering guidance for units submitting criteria. This document clarifies the committee’s schedule, communication procedures, and the respective roles of committee members and peer units in the process of developing and seeking approval for unit criteria. The final document may be found at http://www.uaf.edu/files/uafgov/Advice-for-Units-from-Unit-Criteria-Committee.pdf

- Faculty Senate President-Elect Cécile Lardon is now heading up the Blue Book project, and no business related to that project arrived at the Unit Criteria Committee in 14-15.

- There is pending business for 15-16 related to the 13-14 merger of the School of Natural Resources and Agricultural Sciences (SNRAS) with Cooperative Extension to form a new entity, the School of Natural Resources and Extension (SNRE). These two units will eventually need to resolve how they will handle their unit criteria within the new unit, but did not submit any proposals in 14-15.

- The Unit Criteria Committee received two items from administrators too late in the academic year to discuss during 14-15 given our calendar in late spring 2015; these issues should be taken up during 15-15:
  - CNSM: CNSM Dean Paul Layer and UAF Provost Susan Henrichs would like, as Senate President Cécile Lardon put it, for the Unit Criteria Committee to “establish some rules for the primacy of unit criteria for faculty who have joint appointments, especially those with joint appointments in a college/school and a research institute.” The recent work of the Joint Appointments Committee should be considered along with existing Blue Book language to resolve this matter;
  - CEM: The Institute of Northern Engineering (INE) plans to propose special unit criteria for review and may need some guidance on existing policy and precedent for unit criteria that apply to faculty housed in research institutes.
Committee on the Status of Women (CSW) 2014-15 Annual Report

CSW membership and Meetings
Jane Weber (Chair), Ellen Lopez (Co-Chair), Amy Barnsley (Sabbatical), Megan McPhee, Kayt Sunwood, Mary Ehrlander, Diana Di Stefano, Jenny Liu, Derek Sikes, Erin Pettit, and Michelle Bartlett (Ex officio representative)

The Committee on the Status of Women (CSW) met monthly during AY 2014-15 to discuss, assess, and address issues affecting women (and all) faculty at UAF. The following highlights this year’s committee accomplishments.

Women Faculty Luncheon
On 16 September 2014, CSW hosted UAF’s 10th annual Women Faculty Luncheon. The luncheon was web-streamed for faculty who could not participate in person. Over 80 women faculty participated, celebrated their successes, and made new acquaintances (seating was purposefully planned to create diversity of colleges/disciplines at each table). Several UAF dignitaries were in attendance, and all were sincerely acknowledged for their unyielding support. Our keynote speaker was Margaret Thayer, former curator of Chicago Field Museum of Natural History.

Conversation Café Series
CSW continued to facilitate Fall and Spring “Conversation Cafés” (established in AY 2012-13). The Cafés were hosted at the Wood Center, and in the UAF Women’s Center and offered for distance delivery as requested. CSW acknowledges the generous support provided by the UAF Women’s Center, and Office of Faculty Development.

Our Fall Café focused on Sharing Strategies for Success. The interactive café was hosted on 4 November in the Wood Center’s room E/F, and offered to all UAF faculty. Approximately 30 faculty participated in a multiple-round table activity that asked participants to write and discuss their experiences, strategies and suggestions related to the following topics: Feeling like an Imposter, Getting it Done (even when not perfect), Keeping our Priorities, Networking, and, Being Able to Say No.

Continuing the discussion from our Fall Café, a smaller, Spring Semester, Café was offered on 24 Feb in the Women’s Center. The café offered a small group discussion related to “Creating our own supportive professional networks.”

Women’s Center Advisory Committee
CSW Co-Chairs, Ellen Lopez and Jane Weber, continued to serve on the Women’s Center Advisory Committee formed by Chancellor Rogers in Fall 2012. The committee is charged with advising the Women’s Center, its manager, and the chancellor on how UAF can best meet the mission of the UAF Women’s Center. During FY 2014-15, The Advisory Committee provided advising as the Women’s Center’s oversight transitioned to University & Student Advancement (USA), and to a new physical space in the Wood Center.

Notably, the Committee worked with the Women’s Center to draw from the previous year’s social-media-based needs assessment findings – developing a strong web presence using the social-media most commonly used by the UAF community. The committee also assisted in developing a subtitle to the Women’s Center signage as a means to promote the Women’s Center as a space for everyone – regardless of gender. The committee and Women’s Center also partnered with the Music Department to offer the 1st Annual Women and Music Event, which is hoped to become an annual event!
Planning Strategically for Promotion and Tenure Workshop

On 24 April 2015, CSW hosted its annual two-hour comprehensive, Planning Strategically for Promotion and Tenure workshop. This year, an additional, 3rd hour, was offered for participants to speak in small groups or one-on-one about their specific concerns. Approximately 35 Faculty attended in person, and 10 via distance delivery. As in the past, feedback from participants deemed the workshop to be useful in terms of general strategies for faculty success (such as the importance of understanding unit criteria, documentation, and gaining peer feedback on tables and narratives), file preparation for fourth year, tenure and post-tenure reviews, and other issues related to the T&P process for both United Academics and UAFT.

Noteworthy was the fact that Alex Fitts (Vice Provost and Accreditation Liaison Officer) was invited to provide opening remarks, to acknowledge the challenges of planning for tenure and promotion during such uncertain times, and to answer or clarify questions from participants. Other invited workshop panelists represented diversity in terms of college/department affiliation, position, and tenure/promotion situation. They included the following: Ellen Lopez (focus: 4th year review), Diana Wolf (focus: tenure review), Sandra Wildfeuer (focus: tenure review, Interior-Aleutians Campus), Diana Di Stefano (focus: tenure review), and Mike West (focus: Research Faculty).

CSW continues to give focus to, and make progress on the following:

- Developing a promotion workshop specifically focused on UAF Associate Professor advancement to Full Professor
- Developing strategies and opportunities to enhance mentoring for UAF faculty (both men and women) at all career levels
- Examining environmental (structural) factors that may contribute to the lack of women faculty advancing to Full Professor level
- Exploring issues related to term-funded and adjunct faculty, particularly those issues that differentially affect women
- Compiling and analyzing historical data (spanning at least 10 years) pertaining to the significance of gender among UAF faculty in the following: time to promotion and tenure, rank, non-retention, and salary.
- Strengthening liaison relationships across UAF faculty and staff with the UAF Women’s Center, and with faculty at the other MAUs
- Establishing a UAF Spousal Hire Policy

Next meeting: 11 May 2015 10:30-11:30am; room TBD (probably 304C Eielson)

Respectfully Submitted, Derek Sikes, These minutes are archived on the CSW website: http://www.uaf.edu/uafgov/faculty-senate/committees/14-15-csw/
The Core Review Committee, which is a subcommittee of the Curricular Affairs committee, met biweekly on Tuesdays during Fall 2014 (for a total of 6 meetings) and biweekly on Thursdays during Spring 2015 (again, a total of 6 meetings, including a final meeting on Thursday 4/30/15 not covered by this report).

The primary occupation of the committee was considering student petitions for core courses; the committee also approved several courses to have Core status.

During the year, the committee considered 52 petitions; most of them were from students who were trying to satisfy an O or W requirement.

One frustration encountered by the committee was that students were submitting petitions for individual or directed study courses developed to satisfy the O or W that they either had already taken or were in the process of taking. The committee felt that this was unreasonable and that such courses should have been approved or denied in advance. The committee worked with the registrar’s office, which redesigned the Individual/Directed Study form so that for individual or directed study courses that are to satisfy a core requirement, those forms should be routed through Core Review before approval. However, since students apparently can submit these forms during the semester in which they are taking the course (that is, after the beginning of the semester) it is not clear how much effect the new form will actually have on the problem.

The committee also approved a broadening of the transfer table to include AP and CLEP scores to be used to satisfy Perspectives requirements, following the agreement last year of allowing a broad array of courses to transfer to satisfy those requirements. The committee hopes that soon the General Education requirements will be changed so that students taking courses on-campus will have the same flexibility.

The committee approved the deletion of W from CHEM 455 and ED 412, the addition of W to ANS 478, ED 486, and the addition of O to ED 486. It narrowly approved SOC 100X for compression to Maymester. It approved Core Math status for Math 156 (Precalculus), a new course, and to Math 152, the old Math 108 (trigonometry).

Respectfully submitted,
Leah Berman, Chair.
2. New courses: Math 108 wants an X for alignment purposes (and it's changing its number)

3. Bylaw revision from last year, posted below.

Unit Core Assessment:
Tony Rickard, CNSM
Kevin Berry, SOM

Ex Officio:
Dean's Council Rep - Allan Morotti

Brian O'Dognohue came to discuss two of the petitions. When invited to leave to allow the committee to discuss the petitions in private, he asserted that this was probably an open meeting and thus he should be allowed to stay. The chair declined to dispute the point.

Discussed two petitions.

Petition #1: student wanted JRN 490 when taken a second time to satisfy an O requirement. Students are allowed to take the course more than once, and so this student was taking it for a second time on a different syllabus (designed to meet the requirements of the O) at the same time as other students were taking it on the ordinary syllabus. This seemed very sketchy to the committee, but a majority of the committee agreed that the work the student was doing was satisfactory for an O designation. Approved.

However, it's really weird to have students in the same class operating on different syllabi.

Petition #2: Student proposed that they should have their W requirement waived due to life experience. Committee responded that that was beyond the scope of the committee (as far as the committee understands, we are not allowed to waive requirements). The committee suggested that the student or her advisor take it up with the provost. Denied.

Course: Math 108 Trigonometry asked for an X designation, to match UAA and UAS. Committee approved.

Committee briefly discussed the bylaws changes that had been proposed by last year's committee. We said they all looked good except that perhaps the question marked comments should be deleted.
Student Academic Development and Achievement Committee Meeting Minutes for February 26, 2015

Attending: Joe Mason, Sandra Wildfeuer, Gordon Williams, Colleen Angiak, Alexandra Fitts, Cindy Hardy, Ben Kuntz, Libby Eddy, Eileen Harney

Student Persistence Survey:

Cindy reported on Sine Anahita’s e-mail about doing this project. She is excited about it, and suggests holding focus groups to gather data on why students persist in college. She would like to run focus groups with 5-8 people, and suggests having about 80 students—and provide pizza. We agreed that we want to do a survey, not focus groups, and that we are interested in looking at those who don’t persist.

We discussed other pockets of data on this question that we know of. The campus Non-Traditional Student Club sent out a survey to those on its e-mail list. Brian Jarret, the club faculty advisor, may have some data from this. Colleen noted that RSS is gathering data on student persistence and what gets in the way. They do a student satisfaction survey of their students. They have added an attribute in Banner for RSS students so they can track them as a cohort. She also noted that Sue McHenry was looking at graduation lists to put together a list of Native graduates, but that was having difficulty finding students from self-reported ethnicity.

The Office of Admissions has sent out a survey called “We Miss You” to students who don’t come back to find out why. We also noted that there has been some information gathered in the Advising Center on the paper forms used before Degreeworks was used.

Ben noted that they are putting together a different focus group of on campus students in Bethel. Bethel has some data about student success rates, and Ben will check the Emerging Scholars program.

We agreed that we need to have a clear idea about what problem we are addressing in order to try and research this. We discussed a sample poll of entry level freshman or a survey of students when they have a W, I, NB on their transcript. We speculated that students with real problems are less likely to respond.

We agreed that we also want to survey distance students and to address needs of rural students.

MATH DEVM alignment: This is basically a done deal. The numbering system has been agreed upon, so now the changes are taking effect for Fall. Sandra noted that some course numbers have not changed on the Fall schedule, especially for distance delivered classes. Gold stars to the DEVM and Math folks who got this done!
DEVE ENGL alignment:

They have met once and are meeting again. The radical change they have discussed is a move from DEVE/PRPE/ENGL designators to WRTG. This would clarify the link between developmental writing classes and the current ENGL 111/211/213 sequence.

In developmental classes, both UAF and UAA are integrating reading and writing classes into a combined 4-credit model. This may be an approach that is agreed to in alignment.

For the current ENGL sequence, the numbers for WRTG would stay the same ie: WRTG111. The committee noted some differences in the 200-level sequence. UAF uses 211 and 213; UAA has 211, 212, 213, abnd 214. UAS has 211. UAF may want to move one 200 level course WRTG 214.

One sticking point is the course numbering for the course equivalent to our DEVE 104. This course was recently changed from DEVE 070 and faculty have observed the change to be positive—more motivating for students with less of a sigma and the ability to use the course for elective credit. UAA does not want to move their course to 100-level. Cindy reported that she will be working with Shannon Gramse from UAA to resolve this.

The committee still needs to discuss common course titles, outcomes, and course descriptions—or to decide at what level of detail on these things they need to align.

They are planning changes to be implemented Fall 2016. They are meeting again on March 8.
I. Franz Meyer called the meeting to order at 4:02 pm.

II. Roll call

Excused: Cindy Fabbri
Absent: Mark Herrmann

III. Report by the Office of Faculty Development (report from Joy)

Joy reported that the Faculty Learning Communities have exhibited some interesting results, including a 70-minute presentation on using technology to teach distance courses at the Alaska Native Studies Conference in Fairbanks. She also noted that the Early Career FLC (Chaired by Diana DiStefano) recently had an excellent presentation on stress reduction that was well attended. In addition, Denise Thorsen, Chair of the FLC on Flipped Classrooms, submitted a paper that won an award at the ASEE Conference in Seattle.

Joy shared that the Alaina Levine Career Workshop last Thursday on finding STEM jobs went really well and was well attended.

Tuesday, April 14 (1:00 – 2:00 pm in RASM 340) will showcase several ASTE Conference attendees sharing what they learned on the Alaska Learning Network and using Audio/Visual/Screen Castings in asynchronous online courses. Joy will also share helpful websites, apps and corporate educational sites.

Wednesday, April 15 (noon – 2:00 pm, Elvey Auditorium) there will be an Intellectual Property Lecture: How does intellectual property and licensing apply to the classroom? with Adam Krynicki from the UAF Office of Intellectual Property and Commercialization and one of the Faculty Learning Communities (organized and facilitated by Sara Hayes, a CITE Fellow supported by UAF eLearning as reported by Chris Lott).

Other upcoming events will mostly occur on Friday, April 24: 1) Faculty 180 special training for new faculty in the morning (and a review of Faculty 180 for new faculty will be held on April 21); 2) the Committee on the Status of Women will host their annual workshop on Planning Strategically for Promotion and Tenure from 10:00 am – noon in 109 Butrovich; and 3) Bob Lucas will give his first workshop on Scholarly Writing in the afternoon (followed on Saturday with his full-day workshop on Grant Writing.)

Joy informed us that she is taking May off in order to add more money to the OFD budget. She will be back in June.
IV. Report by UAF eLearning & Distance Education

Chris reported that since our last meeting there have been two Third Thursday and Teaching Tips Live events each. The spring session of iTeach in March was full and successful. Upcoming events include a Third Thursday (April 16, noon – 1:00 pm, Bunnell 319B) on Syllabus Synechdoche: Building Your course From the Inside Out; Teaching Tip Live Online (May 14, 1:00 – 2:00 pm, online) titled Bring your Class to Life With Augmented Reality; iTeach Summer (May 18-22, full days, face-to-face) with applications due by April 30. See http://iteach.uaf.edu/ to apply. Chris noted that there will be an iTeach for the Psychology Department only on May 11-15.

There was some discussion regarding the difficulties with flipping classrooms, such as issues with seat time and amount of effort, some faculty members not getting course releases to develop them despite the fact that they are a lot of work to set up well, and that a lot of departments are looking at them and online delivery as a way to increase their enrollments so they can survive.

V. News on Electronic Course Assessment Implementation Committee (ECAI)

Andrea reported that we are one week away from the pilot electronic course assessment going live! Students will be able to access the electronic evaluations from Monday, April 20 to Monday, May 4. Approximately 450 – 500 courses were chosen based on various and myriad criteria and this will reach about 20% of the student population. He explained that one of parameters in choosing courses was to eliminate any tenure-track faculty so they could be assured of uninterrupted evaluations for their files.

The pilot consists of nine core questions (four instructor questions that students will need to answer for each instructor if they are taking a team-taught course, and five course questions that students will answer only once for each course requiring an electronic evaluation). There will also be four student-specific demographic questions and four open-comment questions (similar to the old “yellow sheet”). Andrea noted that next fall all courses will have electronic evaluations with departments and instructors able to add up to eight questions. This summer’s courses will also run a pilot using the add-on option to help work out any bugs.

The ECAI Committee is currently working on creating a question bank for departments and instructors to choose from along with guides on creating your own questions. Franz noted that we may want to offer training to faculty on using eXplorance Blue electronic evaluations to run mid-semester surveys to garner early feedback on how the course might be adjusted. There was some discussion on incentivizing student participation and some suggestions that the vendor has offered to help boost response rates.

VI. Discussion of modified Committee Bylaws

Franz informed us that the Faculty Senate will be voting on changes to committee bylaws at their next meeting in May. He brought certain points in our proposed bylaws to our attention: including the chair and co-chair as voting members (agreed), leaving the phrase “in-person or electronic vote” as is (agreed), deleting certain parts that are already covered in the broader bylaws for all committees (agreed), including staff and students on our committee or just limiting membership to faculty and staff (we agreed to limit it to faculty/staff only), eliminating the part on removing a member (agreed), eliminating that at least one of the chair or co-chair must be a Faculty Senator as some committees may not have a Senator amongst their membership (agreed), removing the length of the chair term (agreed), removing the bit about overruling decisions of the chair (agreed), and adding “more than 50%” or “half plus one” to the section on Quorum (agreed).
VII. Other Business – tabled due to lack of time
   a. Short update on Faculty 180 review
   b. Debrief of discussion with Dr. Paul Reichardt – what were useful take-away points?

VIII. Upcoming Events
   a. Next FDAI meeting: 5-4-2015
   b. Next Administrative Committee meeting: 4-24-2015
   c. Next Faculty Senate meeting: 5-4-2015

IX. Adjourned at 5:10 pm (Respectfully submitted by Kelly Houlton.)
Graduate Academic and Advisory Committee
Meeting Minutes for March 24, 2015

Attending: Sean McGee, John Yarie, Donie Bret-Harte, Mike Castellini, Jayne Harvie, Mike Daku, Lara Horstmann, Amy Lovecraft (by phone), Laura Bender, Karen Jensen (by phone), Cheng-fu Chen (by phone), Holly Sherouse (by phone)

I. Minutes from our meeting of March 3, 2015 were passed.

II. Most of the meeting was taken up with discussion on the content of the Veterinary Medicine courses. In many respects, they are more similar to undergraduate biology courses than they are to the usual UAF 600-level courses. This is not to say that taking a full load of Veterinary Medicine courses would not be challenging. However, the definition of a 600-level course in the university regulations does not fit these courses. After discussion it seems clear that this is not an issue that can be resolved at the level of this committee (GAAC). Mike Castellini agreed to bring this issue to the Provost’s council.

III. There was discussion of the LAS designator, which has been problematic because there is no curriculum council, the courses are generally special topics that repeat multiple times, and there has been overlap with existing courses. Donie will discuss possible approaches with Cécile Lardon at the next Senate meeting.

IV. GAAC passed 56-GNC: New Course: BIOL F6xx - Exercise Physiology by email following this meeting.

V. GAAC will meet again on April 14, 2015.
