B. The Minutes for UAF Staff Council meeting #185, Friday, 14 December 2007 were approved as submitted.

2. OFFICER REPORTS

A. Kayt Sunwood, President, Staff Council.

Kayt Sunwood thanked the Elections, Membership, and Rules committee members for their efforts towards the fall 2007 even-numbered unit election. Kayt Sunwood commended Juella Sparks for the key role she played working with all three governance groups on the campus childcare issue and the Bunnell House Resolution. Kayt Sunwood updated Council members about the proposed tuition waiver changes related to noncredit courses. Kayt Sunwood reminded Council members that the Staff Affairs committee has worked with the Business Council on this issue for a few years. Kayt Sunwood informed Council members that she, Juella Sparks, and Pam Twitchell will participate in the cookie brigade in Juneau later this month, speaking to Legislators about supporting the UA budget. Kayt Sunwood stated that staff representatives are still working on healthcare issues although we do not have a union we try to Dismay have input to help make a difference. Kayt Sunwood informed Council members that the McTaggert statewide external review committee report was recently released.

B. Juella Sparks, President-Elect, Staff Council.

Juella Sparks updated Council members about the Human Resource redesign committee efforts. Juella stated concerns about how long the redesign is taking and not enough information being available about the redesign process. Juella Sparks stated that one recommendation of the external review committee was that the redesign should be the business of UAF Human Resources and not statewide Human Resources. Juella Sparks stated that the Chancellor has put forth about $24,000 in support of the Bunnell House. Juella Sparks informed Council members that she requested the Chancellor to put together a task force on child care.

3. GOVERNANCE REPORTS

A. Jon Genetti, President, Faculty Senate.

Jon Genetti updated Council members about the progress of the MacTaggart/Rogers report. Jon Genetti stated that it started out as the overall feeling that specific things to MAUs and what they are doing should be run and controlled by the MAUs; and things that statewide should be doing are those that are common across all of the MAUs. Jon Genetti stated that he is familiar with the UAIT takeover by OIT; now for instance we have statewide in charge of running computer labs here on the UAF campus -- that should be something that is run by a UAF person on the local campus itself. That is where the philosophy came from the report, and then it had to be broken down into specific recommendations. I don’t think that the MacTaggart report, the consultants or anybody on the advisory committee wanted to say that we thought that the Human Resources redesign was terrible or bad or needed to go away; just that there needed to be clearer lines of what should be run and taken care via UAF and what should be handled by statewide. We will continue to pound on our end that, that is the philosophy and that is what should happen.

Jon Genetti reported that the Faculty Senate will continue to support the Bunnell House efforts to improve childcare on campus. One of the recommendations that the task force should negotiate for and also the union should negotiate for as an employee benefit is better childcare. Jon stated that what happens in the union contract usually gets implemented across the campus.

Jon Genetti stated that increased Admission standards will go into place this fall for students entering Baccalaureate programs. Students that were admitted last year into a Baccalaureate program and this fall that do not meet the standards might get a letter stating that you are going to be a pre-major in this different classification. It is important for us to have a unified voice staff, faculty and students as well. The reason why we did this is when you look at the category of students that fall into the category where they do not meet these increased admission standards, when you look at the six-year graduation rates, it is under ten percent. These students do not succeed and most of them are gone within a year or two within the current scheme, so what we are doing is trying to identify that group of students and try something different to improve things.

Jon Genetti highlighted information about employees hired after 7/1/06, stating that their choices are either the new PERS defined contribution or the ORP3 Plan. If you entered PERS after 7/1/06, the standards are much higher to qualify for medical benefits under the PERS defined contribution. More importantly you have to retire directly from this job, you can’t leave the job, go some place else, and then retire ten years later, and get the healthcare benefit. Jon reported that about eighty percent of new employees are opting for ORP3 versus going into PERS. That means that we are getting a larger segment of employees that are getting a retirement plan that really has no healthcare benefit built into it.

Paul Landen asked if there has been any discussion about coordination of people who go between PERS and TRS, because right now if you switch from a faculty position to a staff position or vice versa you have to have two completely separate accounts, at two totally different levels, that cannot interact, and you lose everything that you’ve done before. Jon replied they are not going to retroactively change anything as far as I can tell. Right now any staff member or faculty member or administrator can select the ORP3 Plan, and move between positions, it doesn’t really matter. The down side to that is, is that it is not as good of a pension plan as any of the others that you could have entered.

Jon Genetti stated that what they are looking at is through the VIVA code of the IRS, it allows them to make contributions into what would be a healthcare spending account. At retirement you can withdraw money from that account and as long as you spend it on healthcare costs it is tax free. It is an interesting thing to come up with. It doesn’t appear that statewide is driven by wanting to do the best thing for employees, but it is driven by a few university studies. The University of Michigan saw an average retirement age of sixty-two and they had a very good healthcare plan. The University of Minnesota had an average retirement age of sixty-seven and it had no healthcare and retirement plans. Other studies show those faculties tend to delay retirement one to three years if they don’t have healthcare benefits. Jon Genetti stated that you can see right away if you are responsible for paying all of these salaries that you would rather hire a new person, rather than have someone in their last couple of years, that is probably making a higher salary.

Jon Genetti stated that the EMERTI Retirement Health Solutions is a company that is similar to TIAA-CREF, they support higher learning institutions, and they’ve got approximately 50 plus members right now. The one thing that they do is provide a group capability for buying Medicare supplemental insurance at retirement. That means if they put this VIVA Program in place that means that we would be eligible to go into that as a group policy as opposed to having to go out as an individual to buy a Medicare supplement. The VIVA Program requires that the employer put in a fixed amount of money for each employee. It is not based on salary, because your healthcare cost should be independent of salary, there might be a mandatory employee contribution fee from $500 to $1,000 each year.

B. Jake Hamburg, President, ASUAF.

No report submitted.

4. GUEST

A. Anne Sakumoto, Director/Staff Training and Development

Anne Sakumoto welcomed new members to the UAF Staff Council and commented on the importance of the leadership role that Staff Council/Governance provides for staff. Anne Sakumoto updated Council members about the SkillSoft Program’s 3-month pilot program that was initially launched during the Fall of 2007. Anne Sakumoto shared statistical information about the number of employees that participated in the pilot program. Anne Sakumoto announced that the University has entered into a contract with SkillSoft to continue the availability of e-learning courses for all UA employees for a 12-month period. Anne Sakamoto stated that this decision was based upon the very positive employee feedback collected from an employee evaluation/survey of the program. Anne Sakumoto encouraged Council members to let fellow employees know about the availability of the program. Gary Newman asked what the total cost is for the package that we are going to be doing. Ann Sakumoto stated that the total cost for the package was $53,900, approximately $7 per employee per year.

5. PUBLIC COMMENT

A. Ann Ringstad, Associate Vice Chancellor, University Relations

Anne Ringstad updated Council members about recent budget issues and the upcoming cookie brigade in Juneau. Anne Ringstad encouraged Council members to contact Legislators by letter asking support for the UA Budget requests. She informed Council members that the Governors’ budget does not recognize employee step increases. Ann Ringstad provided by handout, the FY09 Operating Budget Request Summary.
