Course Description (from UAF Catalogue): An examination of the complex social arrangements guiding individual behavior and common human concerns in contrasting cultural contexts.

Prerequisites: Placement in ENGL F111X or higher or permission of instructor.

Class Meets: From 8-12:30 M-F in TBA

Credits: 3

Text – Lavenda and Schultz, Anthropology: What does it mean to be human? – Note there are three copies available on two hour reserve in the library.

Other readings available through links on Blackboard.

Note on this MAYmester course: Since we will be covering a semester’s worth of materials in a shortened time period you are expected to come prepared on January 4 to discuss Chapters 1 –3 of Lavenda and Schultz. It would also be good to contact a family member for the oral history assignment.

Grading: Grades will be based on the following scale:

90%-100% = A	80%-89% = B
70%-79% = C	60%-69% = D	59% and below = F

Your grade for the course will be based on the following:

2 Quizzes each worth 10%	20%
Attendance and Participation, including group discussions	20%
2 Film Reviews each worth 10%	20%
Oral History Assignment	15%
Research Paper	15%
Homework
Race Assignment	5%
Intro to YouTube Video Assignment	5%

TOTAL: 100%

Quizzes and Assignments

If you receive a poor grade please check with your instructor for clarification and assistance. This is a 100 level introductory college course and as such will lay the groundwork for many of the skills you will need to successful in both college and your career. There are plenty of resources to assist you. If you make the effort, I will make the effort to assist you.

Quizzes (20%). Quizzes will be based on class lectures, group discussions, readings, and films. The format may be a mixture of multiple choice, short answer, fill in the blank, and essay. Each exam will focus primarily on the material covered during that section of the course in terms of specific information, but will build on the general principles and concepts that we develop throughout the course. There will be no make-ups if you miss a quiz unless you present documentation of an illness or emergency that prevented you from being at the exam, or unless you arrange in advance to take the exam at another time before the rest of the class.

Library Research Assignment (15%). The aim of the research paper is to help you to become familiar with the use of Rasmuson library, one of your most important resources during your academic studies. This assignments will require you to use material in the library to write an essay about a specific topic. Detailed information on this assignment is under the Assignment section on Blackboard. The first research paper is due on the first day of class.

Oral History Assignment (15%) - While many of you may not choose to work professionally as anthropologists, you can certainly work to record your own family's history and relate this to outside events. This project is designed to help you to begin this process. You are to interview a member of your family. Your interview should be focused on some aspect of their life that you are most interested in learning more about. If you are having difficulty getting started there are guides available for questions that you can ask of a family member. Detailed information on this assignment is under the Assignment section on Blackboard.

Participation (20%) - Your participation grade will include attendance as well as your contributions to group discussions.

Film Reviews (20%) - After watching a film shown in class you should provide a 600-1200 word (about 2-4 pages) review of the film. You should utilize critical thinking questions to provide an analysis of the film. An example of critical thinking questions can be found at: <http://wid.ucdavis.edu/handouts/critthink.htm>

Homework (10%) – See Blackboard Assignments section for more information.

Support Services

Student Support Services are available at UAF. The office is located at 512 Gruening Building, and the phone number is 474-6844. You may also obtain additional information about support services at: www.uaf.edu/sssp/index.html.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

You are expected you to do your own work in accordance with the UAF Student Code of Conduct. Cheating and plagiarism are very serious offenses, and will not be tolerated. Any exam or paper that contains plagiarized material will receive a grade of zero. Be sure you understand what constitutes plagiarism and cheating. Any student who turns in a paper not written by him/herself (such as purchased from a company or downloaded from the Internet) will flunk the entire course.

Rasmuson Library has prepared materials to help you better understand how to cite sources properly.

Class Conduct

Please do not converse with fellow classmates while Professor Fazzino is lecturing. Likewise while doing group work you should allow your classmates to fully express their points and give them your attention. There will be appropriate times to address your questions within the group. If you have a question or comment, please raise it! There is a very good chance that if you have a question, someone else is wondering the same thing. Eating in class is not permitted. Something to drink is okay, but you are responsible for cleaning up any spills and for removing your drink container after class. You need to sit with your assigned group for purposes of class, you can always catch up with your friends after or before class. And of course, please TURN OFF your cell phone, if you have one, before entering class.

*NOTICE to those offended by nudity. Anthropology deals frankly with human societies around the world, without imposing North American morality upon them. Nudity will be seen in films, in images presented during lectures, and in the textbook. Anyone taking this class will be presumed to be mature enough to deal with such images. No further warning will be given in advance of showing these images.

The University of Alaska is committed to providing equal access for students with disabilities. We work with the Office of Disabilities Services (474-5655, fydso@uaf.edu) to provide reasonable accommodation to students with disabilities. If you experience a disability and will need special accommodations, please contact Professor Fazzino during office hours.
