

Shaw Creek Archaeological Field School

University of Alaska, Fairbanks

Learn to excavate, identify, and interpret the past at some of the earliest sites in the Western Hemisphere! Students will gain experience using state of the art excavation techniques, including total station 3d mapping. Be prepared for plenty of off-the-grid backwoods hiking and camping!

Location: Shaw Creek Flats: Delta Junction, Alaska

Periods of occupation: 14,300 calBP – 1900 AD

Field School Dates: May 15-June 17, 2017

Application Deadline: March 1, 2017

6 academic credits

Cost: $3134.00 (includes food, transportation, and lodging)

Students provide their own transportation to and from Fairbanks; Transportation from Fairbanks to the site provided by UAF

Contact: Dr. Ben Potter (bapotter@alaska.edu)

Gerad Smith (gmsmith2@alaska.edu)

<https://sites.google.com/a/alaska.edu/uaf-swan-point-field-school/>

