

ABOUT R/V NANUQ

R/V Nanuq, the Inupiat name for “polar bear,” was commissioned in 2019 and is operated by the UAF College of Fisheries and Ocean Sciences.

The vessel boasts a 1,000 lb hydraulic A-frame, a dive platform, and a cruising speed of 20+ knots. With her 13-foot aft deck, R/V Nanuq is designed to accommodate the deployment of a wide variety of equipment to support oceanographic and marine biology research, including CTD rosettes, plankton nets, moorings, and tow sleds.

FEATURES

The cabin features four bunks for berthing, a dinette table, two forward facing helm seats, and an aft facing seat with workstation viewing the back deck. The head is equipped with a pullout shower and the galley contains a 2.7 cubic foot AC/DC refrigerator, as well as a microwave/convection oven. There is a 4.6 cubic foot So-Low freezer on board for research needs. In 2020, R/V Nanuq will be equipped with a seawater sampling system and underway data collection.
