Honors Program

The Honors Program designation indicates acceptance to this program which requires exceptional academic performance and achievement in an unusually challenging course of study. Honors students must complete credits in specially designed Honors coursed and an Honors senior thesis in their major discipline. Students may also earn honors credits by studying abroad or through internships. The UAF Honors Program is open to studens in all majors and emphasizes undergraduate research.

Golden Key Honor Society

Organized as an interdisciplinary organization to recognize and encourage outstanding upper division students, Golden Key is an international student-run service organization committed to meeting the needs of scholastic achievers. Initiated members wear a gold medallion on a blue and gold ribbon, or a gold satin sash with a blue logo, or a blue and gold honor cord.

Student Leadership Honors

Leadership Honors recognize students who have made significant contributions to the enhancement of UAF's mission, the surrounding community and the promotion of student life, all while maintaining academic excellence. Student leadership honorees wear a crimson honor cord.

Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi

The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi is an organization that is open to students in all academic disciplines. PKP promotes the pursuit of excellence and the recognition of outstanding achievement by students and faculty alike. Membership is limited to the top students of each graduating class, and initiated members wear a blue ribbon and medallion bearing the symbolic seal of the Society.

Student Ambassador

Students involved in the Student Ambassador program have demonstrated outstanding campus leadership and supported the growth of the university through new student recruitment and community service efforts.
