CXCS Newsletter Issue January 2019

Greetings!

Welcome to the Center for Cross-Cultural Studies (CXCS) monthly newsletter. Classes will begin Monday, January 14, 2019. We're excited to see students back on campus again and ready to tackle another semester.

As you may know, the CXCS department offers a PhD in Indigenous Studies and an MA in Cross-Cultural Studies to students that can earn their graduate degree via distance audio-conferencing.

As always our faculty and staff are here to help you succeed. Please contact our office at (907) 474-1902 or email uaf-cxcs@alaska.edu if you have any questions.

Follow us on Facebook and Instagram and join our newsletter for updates and events and what's happening.

Happy new year everyone!

ANKN Monthly Book Feature

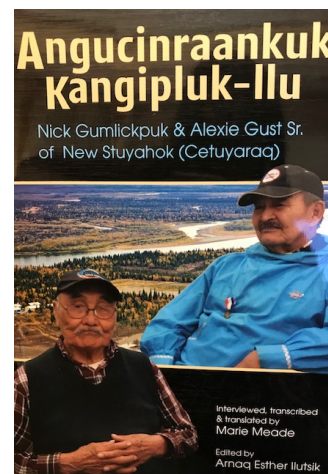

Angucinraankuk Kangipluk - Ilu Nick Gumlickpuk & Alexie Gust Sr. of New Stuyahok (Cetuyaraq)

Interviewed, transcribed & translated by Marie Meade
Edited by Arnaq Esther Ilutsik

Contained in this book is the equivalent of an encyclopedia of detailed knowledge and insights as recalled by two Yup'ik Elders from their life in the early 1900s around the village of New Stuyahok on the Nushagak River. Working in close collaboration with local cultural specialists Marie Meade and Esther Ilutsik, Elders Nick Gumlickpuk (Angucinraq) and Alexies Gust Sr. (Kangiqluk) give us a first-hand account of the extensive cultural heritage in which they grew up. We learn the way of life by which the Yup'ik people survived and thrived before local knowledge systems became entangled with the influx of outside influences brought to the region by the fur traders, missionaries, teachers and government agents. Along with the extensive knowledge and skills that are documented here, we gain access to the rich connection to place and local ways of knowing and living as reflected in the details provided by the original practitioners of Yup'ik language and culture.

-Ray Barnhardt, PhD
