CALL FOR PAPERS

Troth Yeddha’ Roots: Connecting The Place With The People

Alaska Native Studies Conference
March 6 - 8, 2015
University of Alaska Fairbanks campus
Hosted by the University of Alaska

The Alaska Native Studies Council invites submissions on research and activism from all fields related to Alaska Native Studies of the past, present, and future for the third annual Alaska Native Studies Conference.

The Alaska Native Studies Council promotes a deeper and more sustained commitment to integrating Indigenous perspectives into a variety of educational settings. Our mission is to identify, develop, and implement Native-focused curricula, to promote and publish Alaska Native-related research and pedagogical strategies, and to develop a strategic plan to help us attain these goals.

Scholars and practitioners from all fields are invited to submit proposals that address a variety of issues including, but not limited to: Culturally Responsive Leadership and Education, Alaska Native Identities, Alaska Native Languages, Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA), Self-Determination and Sovereignty, Documenting and Honoring Indigenous Knowledge Systems, History, Oral Traditions and Contemporary Texts, Indigenous Research Methodologies, Alaska Native Science and Math, Indigenous Pedagogies vs. Western Paradigms, Subsistence and Sustainability.

Formats include, but are not limited to:
- individual papers (20 minutes)
- panels (3–4 participants, 90 minutes)
- roundtables (3–5 participants, 90 minutes)
- poster presentations
- alternative formats (workshops, performances, film, media, 30 minutes)
Please send proposal submissions in digital format by December 1, 2014, and include the following:

- a paragraph describing the panel theme and/or title or presentation;
- the format (individual paper, roundtable, panel, performance, etc.);
- name(s) and address and email contact information of presenter(s)
