Upcoming Items & Reminders

Upcoming Items
- November 16th-18th—Register now for the Chronicle Festival, three days of programming designed to rekindle the passion of the administrators, faculty, and staff who have worked so tirelessly to deliver on their educational and research missions during the pandemic.
- November 9th-Webinar: How to Reduce Melt and Foster Sense of Belonging Through Peer Mentorship (register here). Many students feel disconnected from supportive networks when they enter college. Additionally, first-generation and historically underserved student populations have the challenge of navigating the “hidden curriculum” of understanding the ecosphere of a campus.
- First Gen Week Events November 8th-13th: https://sites.google.com/alaska.edu/uaffirstgenweek/home
- Why belonging matters for student success: Discover how the three drivers of belonging relate to student success and retention. Plus, learn why efforts to improve belonging can advance DEI goals.
- Options for student health care, insurance

Reminders
- Refresh your online life. Around the first snowfall is an excellent time to spruce up your personal information for the directory, update email signatures and review certain office procedures. You’ll be all set for a productive work winter!
- A nonbinary, genderqueer, genderfluid, gender non-conforming, trans identifying and gender questioning support group for currently enrolled undergraduate and graduate students. Join Thursdays 1:00-1:00PM September 16 – December 9th. Email uaf-sh-sc@alaska.edu for Zoom link and password.
- Late semester student engagement.
- Utilize Nanook Navigator student lists for campaigns, students registered for next semester, students preparing to graduate, and more. Student list video and handout.
- Utilize appointment campaigns to proactively engage students by providing a registration appointment link. Appointment campaign video and handout.
- Block out upcoming holidays and vacation days on your google calendar to prevent students from scheduling appointments when you are out of the office.

Spotlight

Name: Carrie Browne
Title: Academic Advisor
Department & College: Academic Advising Center (AAC), Division of General Studies
Roles: Advisor

Why are you passionate about UAF students and their success?
I’m passionate about UAF student success because I feel every student I work with has a story worth supporting and acknowledging. The students I advise are reaching and investing in their future. It is a privilege to be a part of that investment. There are so many supports and resources available to students while they are a part of UAF. I appreciate my role in helping students learn about all the ways we are here to support their success.

Favorite part about being an advisor?
My favorite part of being an advisor is the unique circumstances that surround each student I work with. Their goals may be similar, to graduate with a degree from UAF. But, each student has their own set of challenges and celebrations to reach that end goal. I feel privileged to be part of that experience and enjoy seeing each student engage as a college student, notice their strengths and eventually find a degree that suits both their interests and abilities.

What is your favorite feature in Nanook Navigator?
My favorite Nanook Navigator feature for connecting with students is the ability to text message students. It is quick, simple and students often respond instantly!

My favorite feature as an advisor is “Report on Appointment” and is stored in the history tab of a students profile. I appreciate that there is a place available to keep valuable notes on an appointment with a student (this could be an email exchange, phone call or actual scheduled appointment) and for anyone else working with that student to have access to this information. I also appreciate that these notes are not visible to the student. It gives me the confidence when interacting with students to ask specific questions based on past advising appointments between us or left in the history of appointments from others who have worked with the student in past appointments. For me, having the clearest picture possible when working with students is always the most effective way to create trust and offer the student appropriate support.

How long have you been utilizing Nanook Navigator?
I started working as an advisor for UAF in March 2020 and have used it everyday for multiple purposes since.

Tips, advice, or ideas to support other Nanook Navigator users or student success practices?
I think I would just say that every bit of information that is collected for our students (be it mid-term grades, alerts and cases, text conversations, email correspondence, reporting on appointments or access to previous semester grades) through Nanook Navigator helps all staff/faculty to support our students. This is a huge factor in the ability to offer the best options to enhance our students’ success and meet them where they are while supporting where they want to go.
