Rose Berry Alaska Art Gallery
Explore 2,000 years of Alaska art, from the traditional to the modern. Examine ancient ivory carvings and Alaska Native objects used for both ceremony and everyday life. Discover paintings, photographs, and sculptures made by Alaska residents and visitors to the state. From the functional to the fantastic, each object reveals Alaska’s artistic influence on the world.

The Place Where You Go to Listen
The Place Where You Go to Listen is a unique sound and light environment created by Grammy and Pulitzer Prize-winning composer John Luther Adams. This ever-changing musical ecosystem gives voice to the rhythms of daylight and darkness, the phases of the moon, the seismic vibrations of the earth, and the dance of the aurora borealis.

Family Room
For kids of all ages. Relax, browse our collection of books and maps, and investigate hands-on activities from previous exhibits and public programs.

Gallery of Alaska

Our cultural and natural history gallery explores Alaska’s five geographic regions through a selection of the museum's 2.5 million objects and artifacts. Learn about the people, wildlife, geography, and the history of each region.

From natural history to recorded history, explore Alaska through the objects in our collections.

Arnold Espe Auditorium

The museum offers Dynamic Aurora, Arctic Currents, and Expedition Alaska: Dinosaurs several times daily. Movie passes are available at the Admissions Desk.

Special Exhibits and Collections Galleries

These galleries explore the art, culture, history, and science of Alaska. They highlight the recent adventures of museum and university researchers, whether prying apart driftwood on an active Aleutian volcano, or observing marmot behavior high on Alaska’s tundra.

Museum Store

Shop for a wide variety of handmade Alaska Native art, books, jewelry, stationery, decor, and other fine Alaskan gifts. Proceeds support the museum’s exhibits, research, and education programs. Browse inventory online at shop.museum.uaf.edu

If you have any questions or need assistance, please ask a Museum Attendant at the Admissions Desk.
