

Tuesday Tips is an outreach effort by OGCA. The idea behind Tuesday Tips is to convey tips, tricks and other helpful information around the area of research administration. Our goal is to post on (almost every) Tuesdays. If there is something you would like to see covered on Tuesday Tips, email: UAF-GCReATE@alaska.edu. For more Tips visit OGCA website.

Who Does What to Prepare Current and Pending / Other Support

Many funding agencies require the submission of information about active and pending support for ongoing projects and proposals to prevent scientific, budgetary, or commitment overlap. This information is used by the funding agencies to assess the capacity of the individual to carry out the research as proposed as well as to help assess any potential overlap/duplication with the project being proposed. It includes all resources made available to an individual in support of and/or related to all of their research efforts, regardless of whether or not they have monetary value. Current and pending support information may need to be submitted to the federal agencies for the PI and other key personnel on the project as applicable during proposal submission and at various points of sponsored award lifecycle.

Who does what to prepare Current and Pending / Other Support:

Department Research Administrator (DRA): List active awards and pending proposals in appropriate sponsor format. For Current and Pending/Other Support information from collaborators, DRA obtains the information from the partnering institutions.

PI: Add all other required information, and review all information for accuracy.

OGCA review: Ensure listed effort adds to no more than 100% or 12 months, adherence to minimum effort requirement on award if any, note any significant changes that may require prior approval. OGCA receives Current and Pending/Other Support information from the DRA and submits to the sponsor.
