NCURA Webinar: Foreign Influence Requirements Roundup: Agency by Agency Current Expectations Plus a Sneak Peek at What We Think is Coming

Wednesday, September 30, 2020
10:00 am - 11:30 am
Location: Virtual Live Web Conference*

Registration: Foreign Influence Requirements Registration

UAF/OGCA is allowed unlimited additional logins, but every attendee must be registered as an additional individual login in advance.

To sign up, follow these two steps:

1. Register for the G-CReATE using this link Foreign Influence Requirements Registration by September 18, 2020 in order to be added individually to the NCURA registration.

2. Create an NCURA Profile (if you don’t already have one). All registrants must have an NCURA profile. Visit the NCURA website to Create Non-Member Account, if needed.

NCURA will email a webinar link directly to each individual registrant.
Overview:
With the wealth of information constantly coming out (or being promulgated) related to foreign influence issues, concerns - and requirements that agencies need to impose to address those concerns - it can be hard to keep up with what research administrators need to comply with. This webinar will be a pragmatic snapshot of the national picture, what requirements exist TODAY from various federal agencies related to foreign influence and related national security issues, and what is most likely (but no promises!) heading our way in the coming months. Some research administrators already deeply embedded in foreign influence issues may not learn anything new; for the rest of us, this will allow an opportunity to “catch up” or confirm the current interpretation of the guidance as well as having an idea of what requirements or legislation may be bubbling up in this space in the coming months.

Speakers:
Jim Luther, Associate Vice President Finance & Compliance Officer, Duke University
Pamela Webb, Associate Vice President for Research, University of Minnesota

Audience:
Faculty, Staff and Students
