Cost Definitions

ASUAF - Associated Students of the University of Alaska Fairbanks (ASUAF) represents student views and concerns to the university administration, board of regents and Alaska Legislature. The fee also pays for publication of the UAF student newspaper, the ASUAF Concert Board, and the student radio and on-campus television station. ASUAF also provides a free half-hour attorney consultation, academic travel funding, international student identification cards, subsidized student club activities, and much more. Fairbanks-area students that are enrolled in 3 or more credits must pay this fee.

Athletics - The Athletics fee provides admission to all home athletic competitions. Admission will only be guaranteed until the start of each event. The fee excludes post-season competitions. Fairbanks-area students that are enrolled in 3 or more credits must pay this fee.

Books - You will need to purchase books for most of your courses. The cost will vary depending on what books your courses require.

Course Material - You will need to provide your own materials for your courses. These include things like pens, pencils, notebooks, calculators, and more.

Facilities Fee - Helps address the capital reinvestment for university facilities and academic equipment. Capital reinvestment funds construction that modernizes university classrooms, laboratories, residence halls, and other buildings so students have learning and living facilities that enhance the academic experience.

Health Center - This allows you to use the Health Center on campus. It includes access to medical and counseling services provided at the Health Center at a minimal cost and six free counseling sessions per year. Fairbanks-area students that are enrolled in 6 or more credits must pay this fee.

Health Insurance - UAF requires that you have health insurance. If you do not, you may purchase health insurance through the university. If you already have health insurance, you are not required to pay this fee.

Late Fee - A $125 late fee will be applied to your account if you do not pay off your account by the deadline. An additional $175 late fee will be applied to your account if you still haven't paid it off by the second deadline.

Network Charge - The network charge covers costs for the maintenance and enhancement of the university-wide technology infrastructure.

Orientation - If you are a new student, you will be required to attend Orientation. Student Orientation will help you successfully navigate through the beginning of your UAF experience in a fun and easy way.

Parking Decal - If you have a vehicle in Fairbanks, you will need to purchase a parking decal in order to park on campus in areas that are not governed by a parking meter.

Personal - This cost is an estimate of what you will spend on your own items. Things to consider when looking at this cost are how much you will spend on clothing, entertainment, toiletries, etc.

Post Office Box Rent - You may rent a post office box on campus. This is an optional, but recommended fee.

Reinstatement - You will be dropped from your classes if you do not pay your fees by the deadline. You may be reinstated, but must pay the $100 reinstatement fee.

Student Recreation Center (SRC) - The fee covers the use of the SRC and its facilities. Fairbanks-area students that are enrolled in 6 or more credits must pay this fee.

Sustainability - The student sustainability fee is a student-initiated fee that is invested in energy-efficiency programs and renewable-energy projects at UAF. Fairbanks-area students that are enrolled in 3 or more credits must pay this fee.

Technology - The fee remains at the campus at which it was collected and is used to support technology that enhances academics.

Transportation - The transportation fee pays a portion of the costs of operating shuttle buses that provide transportation throughout campus and to various facilities off campus. Fairbanks-area students that are enrolled in 4 or more credits must pay this fee.

Travel - Travel to and from the Fairbanks campus is your responsibility, as is your mode of transportation when you get to UAF. Your Student ID Card, Polar Express, will get you on the Fairbanks City Bus (MACS) for free.

Tuition - Tuition is the money that the University charges students to take a course. You will be charged a set amount of money for each credit that you are enrolled in.

Wood Center (WC) - This fee supports Nanook traditions such as Starvation Gulch, Winter Carnival, and SpringFest as well as student activities and student life programs. Fairbanks-area students that are enrolled in 9 or more credits must pay this fee.
