Remote Travel Emergency Plan

Submit a UAF Remote Travel Emergency Plan to Environmental, Health, Safety and Risk Management and the department/institute director before you travel. You'll need to leave a copy with a responsible person and include the following:

- Specific travel dates and locations
- Planned date and time of departure and return
- How and when communication will be made from the field
- List of participants and their contact information
- Planned mode(s) of travel
- Remote Travel Emergency Plan template available at EHSRM
- Required emergency and communication equipment
- Required training
- Evacuation plan in the event of an emergency

The following resources are available to help you with planning:
