

Steps to Study Away!

STUDY AWAY PROGRAM

University of Alaska Fairbanks

STEP 1 – BEFORE APPLYING

☐ Check out the UAF Study Away Program website (uaf.edu/studyaway)

☐ Attend a Study Away coffee hour or information session if you can.

☐ Discuss with your academic advisor which semester / year to go.

☐ Log in to the UAF Study Away Portal and take the program match quiz.

☐ Meet with the Study Away advisor to discuss program selection.

☐ Identify any scholarship opportunities you may be eligible for, and note the application deadlines and procedures.

☐ If you're interested in an international program and don't have a passport yet, apply for one at the UAF Passport Services office.

STEP 2 – UAF APPLICATION

- ❑ In the UAF Study Away Portal, select a program and term and start an application. You only need to fill out one application; for exchange programs with limited capacity you will be able to select back-up options.

- ❑ All applications require two recommendations. Plan ahead and contact your recommenders well before the deadline.

- ❑ As part of your application, you'll fill out a couple worksheets to create a budget and a list of courses you might take. Just ask if you need help!

- ❑ Pay the $50 application fee and submit your application by the deadline. Monitor your UA email account for notifications about next steps.

STEP 3 – EXTERNAL APPLICATION

- ❑ All Study Away participants need to complete a second, external application to enroll in the host school or program.

- Exchange programs (National Student Exchange and International Exchange): Once your UAF application is approved and placement is confirmed, you will receive host school application instructions.

- International affiliate programs: You can start your application on the program provider website at the same time as your UAF application, or any time before the deadline.

*In most cases, neither the UAF nor external application is competitive. Students must meet minimum requirements and show adequate preparation.
