Course Description

This course will explore the history and treatment of individuals with mental health disorders in the United States (U.S.). There will be an emphasis on preparing students to provide case management and assessment services to people with mental health disorders. Students will be provided an overview of the unique challenges faced by social workers working with this population. Throughout the course students will strengthen their awareness of social work generalist practice knowledge, values, and skills through the use of social work theory and practice, specifically the ecological systems perspective with its emphasis on the bio-psycho-social, spiritual and cultural aspects and the generalist problem solving method practiced through a strengths perspective.

In particular, students will become aware of:

- The history of mental health disorders and treatment, including deinstitutionalization and the traditional medical model used, as well as an introduction to the wellness model.
- An overview of basic symptoms of common mental health disorders and ways in which social workers can safely intervene.
- An overview of assessment models and how to complete a biopsychosocial assessment.
- Societal views of mental health and its portrayal in the media. Students will be expected to explore and reflect on their personal assumptions about people with mental health disorders to be able to better serve these unique populations. Student will understand the impacts of stigma surrounding mental health in the U.S.
- The mental health strengths and needs of diverse groups, specifically Alaska Native/Native Americans, as well as how life situations affect symptoms of mental health disorders and access to services.
- The unique case management needs in working with people with mental health disorders and best practices in providing case management services.

Course Readings/Materials

Required Textbooks:

Recommended:

Accessible Online:
Other readings provided by instructor. Students are required to access videos online.
Instructional Methods

Class will be delivered through a variety of methods. Students are expected to complete asynchronous work prior to class meetings so that they can be prepared to actively participate. Students are expected to complete any work that is in place of class meeting time by the due date. Classes will consist of lecture, discussion, films, and student breakout sessions. Internet with streaming capabilities is required for this course.

Required Technology Use and Guidelines

Students will be required to use email, Blackboard, Google Drive, Zoom and access videos and other media available on websites. If you are unfamiliar with searching and using the Web or do not have access please inform the instructor before the first week of class. Students are also responsible for informing the instructor of any changes in e-mail/phone number from that listed in the University’s UA Online. Use of your @alaska.edu email address is preferred.

Zoom Platform and Required Equipment

Zoom will be the platform used for this course. We understand that using the Zoom platform can sometimes be difficult or not possible in rural areas. If this is the situation for you, inform your instructor before or during the first week of class that you will only be able to use the phone call in option. If bandwidth and internet access are not an issue for you, you are expected to be utilizing the online platform for Zoom and can choose between phone or computer for your audio option. Technology issues are not an excuse for missing class or turning in assignments late.

A camera and headphones with a microphone are a requirement for this course. Headphones help to minimize feedback, background noise and eliminate noise distractions. You are expected to have a camera available on the device you are using Zoom on (laptop, desktop, tablet, phone, etc.). Headphones with a built-in microphone can be purchased at most local stores, online or through the bookstore as it will be indicated as required for your course. If you need assistance finding one, please reach out to the instructor prior to the beginning of the semester. If you use the call-in audio only option, you are still expected to utilize a headset that has a microphone.

Zoom Online Classroom Etiquette/Expectations

- Students are expected to arrive in class, on time. Students who arrive tardy should not interrupt class to announce they have arrived, rather send a message to the professor on Zoom or wait for a break to do so.
- Students should work to keep distractions to a minimum for both themselves and their classmates. You are encouraged to find a quite, private space to log into and participate in class.
- Students are expected to actively participate in class, including in assigned breakout sessions. This is an important part of your learning, including learning from your fellow classmates. In addition, instructors are able to see if a student has minimized his/her Zoom screens and are no longer actively participating in class. If you are called on in class and do not answer, it will be assumed you are not actively participating and can lose attendance points for the day.
- Please utilize the “raise hand” feature on Zoom when you have questions, rather than interrupting class. You are encouraged to ask questions by “raising your hand” rather than only using the chat box feature, which the instructor cannot always keep up with during a lecture. Note that private chats between students can be both view by and disabled by your instructor.

- Dress Code. Please keep in mind that you are on camera, and should dress appropriately as if you were in person in class.

Google Drive
Students will be provided a link to a shared Google Drive folder with all materials for the course available in it. This includes the syllabus, classroom policies, assignment descriptions/grading rubrics, additional readings, forms, and other documents needed for the course.

Blackboard
Students should familiarize themselves with this course on Blackboard. Announcements will be posted through Blackboard. It is the student’s responsibility to keep up with announcements and changes in class. All assignments are to be submitted through Blackboard and will not be accepted by email unless previously agreed upon.

Kanopy
Students will be required to access Kanopy from time to time to view films needed to complete assignments. To access Kanopy, go to www.kanopy.com (or follow link for the film provided). All UAF students have access to Kanopy using your UA ID login and password. Students should plan ahead to complete film assignments. This may mean that you will need to access video streaming on-campus, at the library or another community resource where you can access the internet.

Course Policies

Attendance, tardiness, and participation
Besides credit toward the final grade, it is to the student’s benefit to attend class since much learning about course material occurs during the class times from discussing experiences, readings, and knowledge gleaned from in-class exercises. Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each class, and calculated in the final grade. ALL absences are treated the same, regardless of the reasoning. Frequent tardiness, failure to complete given online assignments that are in place of or in addition to class meetings, and lack of participation will impact your attendance grade, and is at the professors discretion in regards to points off. Grading is as follows:

- Students who miss 0-2 classes will receive the full 100 points
- Students who miss 3-4 classes will receive 75 points,
- Students who miss 5 or more classes will receive 0 attendance points.
- Two tardies (10+ minutes late or continued tardiness of less than) = one absence
- Failure to complete an assignment that is in place of class = absence for that class
- Lack of participation in class will result in a loss of attendance points at the instructor’s discretion.
Announcements regarding any changes, upcoming activities or how the class will proceed are made right after attendance is taken. Students who come in late may not be briefed on these announcements. It will become the student’s responsibility to find out from a classmate any missed information.

Written Assignments and Expectations

All papers are required to be written in APA format unless otherwise directed. All written assignments should be typed, with no greater than 12-point font double-spaced with a cover page, running head, headings, and page numbers. In addition to content and demonstration of critical thinking, papers are graded on overall presentation including syntax, grammar, spelling & proper APA citation. Wikipedia, blogs, and generic websites are not valid resources to cite. It is the students’ responsibility to access help for using APA format. This could mean using resources online, or scheduling a time with any of the faculty to get assistance. Please seek help if you need it! You WILL be deducted points for incorrect APA format and reported for plagiarism if you fail to cite your sources, including a reference page. Unless otherwise directed, assignments will be submitted into Blackboard. It is the student’s responsibility to ALWAYS keep a copy of their work in case items are lost in the submission process.

Late Papers and Missing Deadlines

Plan now for meeting deadlines, including rewriting and time for getting questions answered. If a student is not able to turn an assignment in on time, the student must contact the instructor one week before the deadline, with these guidelines:

- If turned in late with instructor knowledge and approval one week in advance, there will be a deduction of 10% for each day it is late.

- If turned in late without prior discussion, there will be a 50% grade deduction.

- The instructor reserves the right to not accept late assignments.

Academic Integrity

As described by UAF, scholastic dishonesty constitutes a violation of the university rules and regulations and is punishable according to the procedures outlined by UAF. Scholastic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, cheating on an exam, plagiarism, and collusion. Cheating includes providing answers to or taking answers from another student. Plagiarism includes use of another author’s words or arguments without attribution as well as copying in whole or in part from websites, articles, books, handouts, pamphlets, etc. If you have questions about what constitutes plagiarism or how to cite the work of others in your papers, please ask. Collusion includes unauthorized collaboration with another person in preparing written work for fulfillment of any course requirement. Scholastic dishonesty is punishable by removal from the course and a grade of “F.” For more information, see the Code of Conduct: http://www.uaf.edu/catalog/catalog_08-09/academics/regs3.html#Student_Conduct

Incompletes, Withdrawals and No Basis Grades

If a student is unable to complete or attend this class on a regular basis, there are several possibilities for the final grade. Students are able to withdraw (W) from the course up until mid-semester. Please review the UAF Academic Calendar for these dates. If students do not withdraw, but have not both (1) attended more than 75% of the classes AND (2) submitted 75% of the coursework, students will earn a No Basis (NB) grade.
In order to receive an incomplete (I) for this course, students must have (1) completed 75% of the required work for the course, (2) attended 75% of classes, and (3) have a written plan with a timeline conveyed to the instructor and approved by said instructor prior to the end of the semester. Allowing incompletes is entirely at the discretion of the instructor. Please refer to the Academic Calendar for semester deadlines: https://catalog.uaf.edu/calendar/

Course Calendar
Note: This is a tentative schedule. Students are responsible for keeping informed of changes and will not be updated by the instructor if they are tardy or miss class.
