

Interested in supporting GREEN power this semester?

100% of funds contributed by SNAP purchasers go directly to SNAP producers

Students, faculty and staff now have the power to support alternative energy through SNAP.

UAF kicked off its participation in Golden Valley Electric Association's (GVEA) SNAP (Sustainable Natural Alternative Power) program in Fall 2007. The program connects producers with purchasers of renewable energy. UAF's participation will allow students, faculty and staff to actively participate in alternative energy production.

SNAP producers are members producing renewable power using solar panels or wind turbines. The energy is mixed with the existing power supply and transferred across the electric grid and finally received by homes and businesses.

By becoming a SNAP purchaser you will support the continued development of alternative energy resources in interior Alaska. Contributions will develop sustainable, natural power and advance UAF's efforts to establish a Sustainable Campus Initiative. Facilities Services Division of Utilities is taking steps to become one of GVEA's SNAP producers.

For as little as $2, you can help support this important new resource. Contributions can be made anytime at the Residence Life Office, and UAF will pay GVEA all the money it collects. All of your contribution will go directly to the producers of alternative energy.
