

“Tumyaraq-qaa” Character descriptions

THE ROLES:

Actors of all ethnicities and gender identities are encouraged to audition.

The Captain Ellalluk (female) 20-45 — a cavalier hands off kind of leader, frequently unsure of herself, always trying to perfect her leadership skills with the latest corporate jargon and business theory. Loves speeches. (Ellalluk means ‘rain’)

Captain of the Tumyaraq-qaa

1st Mate Atauciiq (male) 30-50 — the first mate. A bit of a stickler for paperwork and procedure. Will not proceed until the proper paperwork has been filled out or the captain directly orders him - even with imminent danger. Frequently called ‘#2’ by the Captain, this only serves to make him more rigid.

(Atauciiq means ‘S/he is the first’)

1st Mate. Military to the bone.

Navigator Naaq (female) 20-45 — a math whiz and will drop everything to over explain the math of the navigation equations. Frequently adds extra maneuvers just to illustrate her math proofs.

Navigator who Really loves math

Communications Officer Kaigtua (male) 20-40 — a player who loves his reflection. He will date anyone and anything. He had a relationship with the blueberry pie dispenser down on level three but they broke up because it was making him fat. (Kaigtua means ‘I am hungry’)

Communications. A definite primp and preener.

The Tribal Doctor Suupaaq (Trans) 20-45 (married to Doctor Yuungcarista) — Suupaaq is still deciding on their pronouns. Uses everything to relate to the spirit world. Once s/he/they saw spirals in the dust on level nine and thought that meant they had to rid the ship of nine people. It was shaky going for a bit.

Mutiny was a definite possibility until the doctor sedated her/him/them. Their relationship has never been the same. Navigation explained the spirals were sympathetic vibration. (Suupaaq means ‘soup’)

Tribal/spiritual Doctor. Everything can be fixed with a blessing. AK Native.

The Medical Doctor Yuungcarista (female) 20-45 — this doctor has missed her calling. When not in direct conflict with Dr. Suupaaq — this doctor is a little more than overly doctory. For a scrape, she might bandage you up to your eyeballs. For a splinter she may rush you into the operating theater to put you under general anesthesia. Some crew members would rather treat themselves than have her (s)mother them. (Yuungcarista means ‘doctor’)

Medical doctor. Cool, confident. All is right with the Universe when she’s doctoring someone. AK Native.

Engineer Tekitua (male) 20-30 — always wanted to be an action hero or stunt person. At every opportunity and at every entrance he slides, summersaults or swings into the room. For him it’s about needing to perform a heroic stunt to prove his mettle. He fixes the engines and anything else but grumbles about it because the crew can’t seem to look at his stunt work as worthy in addition to his mechanic duties. (Tekitua means ‘I have arrived!’)

Athletic. Mechanic/Engineer. Wants to be a stuntman.

“Tumyaraq-qaa” Character descriptions

General (male) 40-60 — stuffy, used to getting their way, gruff.

Tax Drone 20-80 — literal tax drone/robot? Someone dress as a cyborg? Very rigid and task oriented
Tax Code is Law. Tax Code is Religion. Tax Code is Life. Everything flows from Tax Code.

Squad Leader — military. Sings the cadences.

Squad — answers as a unit to the squad leader. 4-8 members. 18-45 Calls cadence and marches

Parts person (male) 20-50 — go between, small time criminal. Two bit hustler.

World Leaders are from real and imagined countries. They are posh, expensive (looking) and snazzy dressers. NOT JUST WESTERN. Sex and age are flexible.
