Note: The guidelines are online: http://www.uaf.edu/uafgov/faculty/cd/syllabus.html The department and campus wide curriculum committees will review the syllabus to ensure that each of the items listed below are included. If items are missing or unclear, the proposed course change will be denied.

SYLLABUS CHECKLIST FOR ALL UAF COURSES

During the first week of class, instructors will distribute a course syllabus. Although modifications may be made throughout the semester, this document will contain the following information (as applicable to the discipline):

fo	llowing information (as applicable to the discipline):
1.	• Course information: □Title, □ number, □credits, □prerequisites, □ location, □ meeting time (make sure that contact hours are in line with credits).
2.	Instructor (and if applicable, Teaching Assistant) information: ☐ Name, ☐ office location, ☐ office hours, ☐ telephone, ☐ email address.
3.	 Course readings/materials: □ Course textbook title, □ author, □ edition/publisher. □ Supplementary readings (indicate whether □ required or □ recommended) and □ any supplies required.
4.	 Course description: □ Content of the course and how it fits into the broader curriculum; □ Expected proficiencies required to undertake the course, if applicable. □ Inclusion of catalog description is strongly recommended, and □ Description in syllabus must be consistent with catalog course description.
5.	. 🖵 Course Goals (general), and (see #6)
6.	. 🗖 Student Learning Outcomes (more specific)
7.	Instructional methods: □ Describe the teaching techniques (eg: lecture, case study, small group discussion, private instruction, studio instruction, values clarification, games, journal writing, use of Blackboard, audio/video conferencing, etc.).
8.	Course calendar: ☐ A schedule of class topics and assignments must be included. Be specific so that it is clear that the instructor has thought this through and will not be making it up on the fly (e.g. it is not adequate to say "lab". Instead, give each lab a title that describes its content). You may call the outline Tentative or Work in Progress to allow for modifications during the semester.
9.	Course policies: Specify course rules, including your policies on attendance, tardiness, class participation, make-up exams, and plagiarism/academic integrity.

HONORS 241 - Syllabus

Fall 2011

Instructor: Instructor, phone, email TBD

Office hours: Days, time(s) TBD

Class hours: Days, time(s), location TBD

Prerequisites: ENGL 211 or ENGL 213, and COMM 141 or COMM 131. (Preferably those courses have been taken in Honors.)

Texts: See the attached reading list.

Description: This lecture and discussion course will provide a deep exposure to the core concepts and themes of modern civilization through interdisciplinary study based in primary literature. The readings in this course, and its companion course HONR 242, will span the range of humanities and social sciences; readings in HONR 241 and 242 are distinct but complementary. This course and HONR 242 comprise the second-year Honors curriculum. Thus, it is open only to Honors students, and is required of all second-year Honors students.

Grading: 3 credits. A 500-word reflection paper on each text, on a key element of humanity explored therein (5% each). One major paper exploring any of the texts in more depth, with emphasis on the timelessness of the human condition (3000 words; 30%). Class participation will be graded (20%), and no more than two unexcused absences will be allowed. The course will be graded on a rubric, and will be graded plus/minus.

Schedule: See the attached reading list.

Learning Outcomes: Students who complete this course, and its companion course HONR 242, will be conversant with the central ideas and themes which illuminate the progress of humanity towards, and the realization of, modern civilization. The breadth of political, social, economic and artistic activity can be substantially traced to a compact set of works. By reading, reflecting on and discussing the works on the class reading list, students will come to better understand the philosophical arguments and personal motivations that characterize humankind.

Remarks: The UAF Honors Program aims to educate critical thinkers, problem solvers and community leaders who adapt as the future unfolds. Honors Program students will develop both excellence within their major field of specialization, and broad competence in areas outside their field through an emphasis on cross- and inter-disciplinary studies. This course, and its companion course HONR 242, support one of the goals of the Honors Program: to develop very well-rounded students who have been deeply exposed to the core concepts and themes of modern civilization through interdisciplinary study in the primary literature. By bringing students from all disciplines together in this course to discuss these topics, a true plurality of views can be presented and appreciated. It is against both the standards of the Honors Program and the UAF Honor Code to misrepresent work which is not your own; plagiarism will result in a failing grade.

Disability Services: The Honors Program will work with the Office of Disabilities Services (208 WHIT, x7043) to provide reasonable accommodation to students with disabilities.

HONORS 241 - Reading List

Fall 2011

This course will provide a deep exposure to the core concepts and themes of modern civilization through interdisciplinary study based in primary literature. Course readings will span the range of humanities and social sciences, with the goal of making students conversant with the central ideas and themes which illuminate the progress of humanity towards, and the realization of, modern civilization. By reading, reflecting on and discussing some of these works, students will come to better understand the philosophical arguments and personal motivations that characterize humankind.

Many of the books to be studied in HONR 241 are available as free online versions through Project Gutenberg (gutenberg.org). All of the texts which are freely available online will be placed on ERes at the Rasmusen Library.

Title	Author	Meetings	Source
