JUST F452 O Comparative Criminology

3 Credits Independent Study

The Justice program focuses on the American Justice system with an emphasis in Restorative Processes, Alternative Dispute Resolution, and Alaskan Justice. However, Justice Institutions and practice vary across time and place. This course examines the development of philosophy and law; and the historical and modern practice of justice throughout the world. (Prerequisite: JUST F110, JUST F251, or permission of instructor.) (3+0).

Core review approved with addition of COMM F131X or COMM F141X to prerequisites.

JUSTIFICATION FOR ACTION REQUESTED

The purpose of the department and campus-wide curriculum committees is to scrutinize course designator applications to make sure that the quality of UAF education is not lowered as a result of the proposed change. Please address this in your response. This section needs to be self-explanatory. Use as much space as needed to fully justify the proposed change and explain what has been done to ensure that the quality of the course is not compromised as a result.

The Justice Department has applied to drop JUST F460 American Crime Control, which leaves the department without an oral intensive course. The department has two writing intensive courses. This offering will enhance the ability of students to satisfy the oral intensive core requirement. In addition, this gives students another upper division elective to select.

The course requires students to read and discuss advanced topics, give three presentations, and write one short concept paper and one research paper. Students will be assessed for writing ability early in the course and will receive individual counseling on writing and speaking techniques. Student will be required to complete two short presentations and one long presentation with a Question and Answer period from the audience. Given this the oral intensive standards have been met; and the quality of UAF education will be enhanced.

The attached syllabus must clearly reflect the following basic elements for the ORAL COMMUNICATION emphasis requested. Please note them directly on the syllabus, using the corresponding letter. (See Guidelines in this manual.)

GROUP (medium or large class) (Regularly enrolling at least 12 students)

- A 15% of the final grade based on oral communication
- B 1 ongoing, integrated group project with 5-8 students
- C 2 presentations (minimum of 5 minutes per member)
- D Question & Answer period for both presentations
- E Group and Individual grading
- F Instructor Evaluation/Feedback on all presentations

PUBLIC (medium or large class) (Regularly enrolling at least 12 students)

- A 15% of the final grade based on oral communication
- B 3 presentations (minimum of 5 minutes each)
- C Question & Answer period for both presentations
- D Instructor Evaluation/Feedback on all presentations

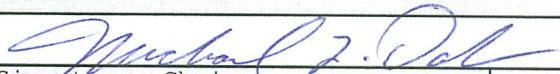

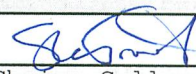

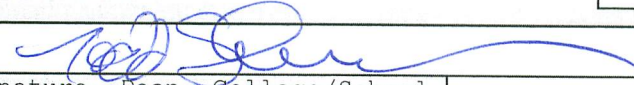

PUBLIC (small class) (Regularly enrolling less than 12 students)

- A 15% of the final grade based on oral communication
- B 2 presentations of 20 minutes with Question & Answer or 3 presentations of 10 minutes with Question & Answer
- C Instructor Evaluation/Feedback on all presentations

PUBLIC (large class) (Regularly enrolling 20 or more students)
"O/2"

- A 7.5% of the final grade based on oral communication
- B 1 presentation (minimum of 5 minutes), and
- C 1 presentation of 8-10 minutes with Question & Answer
- D Instructor Evaluation/Feedback on all presentations

Course Description

JUST F452 O Comparative Criminology
3 Credits Offered Summer Session

The Justice program focuses on the American Justice system with an emphasis in Restorative Processes, Alternative Dispute Resolution, and Alaskan Justice. However, Justice Institutions and practice vary across time and place. This course examines the development of philosophy and law; and the historical and modern practice of justice throughout the world. (Prerequisite: JUST F110, JUST F251, or permission of instructor.) (3+0).

Course Goals

1. To understand how different societies develop varied institutions.
2. To develop a basic understanding of the norm forming process that develops cultures.
3. To understand the difference between institutions and how people react to institutions by building organizations, groups, families and other cooperative innovations.
4. To understand how individuals react to rewards and punishments from Institutions and from groups in society.
5. To examine the history and modern practice of justice systems around the world.

Student Learning Outcomes:

1. Students will understand crime as a social and individual phenomenon, and its specificities in various countries
2. Students will be familiar with social reactions to crime in different countries
3. Students will develop interpersonal communication with colleagues from different cultural influences
4. Students will assess the range of programs and projects aimed at combating crime in different countries
5. The student will be able to:
 - a. Distinguish between legalistic and statutory solutions in the selected field of crime study
 - b. prepare presentations on a chosen topics of discussion
 - c. Compare the phenomenology of crime in different countries
 - d. Compare the preventive strategies to combat crime in different countries
 - e. Propose new solutions in the fight against crime for his/her own country
 - f. Identify new tendencies in criminological research in different countries
 - g. Compare the results of contemporary research in different countries

Instructional Methods:

This course is presented in a face-to-face format. In addition, there is a Blackboard internet learning site for this course, and each student is enrolled in that site. Students should access the Blackboard course early and become familiar with its layout. [Tutorials are available in the FAQ tab found to the left menu on the Home Page of the course. These will demonstrate how to use Screen-cast-o-matic and Prezi (two programs used to develop presentation skills in this course.) The syllabus, assignments, and non-text readings are all available through this website as well.

This course also emphasizes Black Board discussion of the justice systems presented by the text and other assigned materials. Discussions are meant to emphasis and apply key concepts encountered in your readings and assignments. Consequently, it is critical that students attend class regularly and come prepared, having read and thought about the appropriate reading assignments. Attendance will be recorded, as will discussion participation, and comprise a component of the final grades for the course. In grading participation, the quality, as well as the quantity, of participation will be considered.

All email communication between the instructor and the students will be addressed to the students' UAF webmail accounts. Personal hotmail, gmail, yahoo, etc. accounts will not suffice. Students must set up their UAF webmail accounts by the second day of class.

Course Policies

a. Plagiarism

Plagiarism will not be tolerated and will adversely impact your grade. Plagiarism consists of representing the work of another as your own. You are encouraged to use the work of others, but give appropriate credit to the “true” author through proper citation or use of quotations.

b. Classroom Conduct

Students are required to read and abide by the Student Code of Conduct. Students are required to assist in fostering a suitable learning environment in the classroom. This means students are required to silence pagers and cell phones during class, not text during class, nor participate in any other activity that will distract those around you. Profanities, rude and other dismissive statements, gestures, or actions will not be tolerated and subject the offender to removal from class. Open and vigorous debate of the topics is encouraged, but so is civility.

Evaluation:

There are seven segments in this course (1 segment completed every two weeks). During the course students will have the following writing and presentation assignments due:

1. Using Power Point or Prezi and Screen-Cast-O-Matic, students will complete a ten-minute electronic presentation choosing one justice system outside the United States and discussing 3-5 things that differ from our system. Students will be prepared to answer questions after the presentation. These assignment replicates a standard public policy practice of preparing a technical presentation for a board or panel and then summing up recommendations and answering questions. (Public Small Class B/C)
2. Concept paper on the ethical system that is the foundation for the practice of justice in one of the study cultures/nation states of this course. Student will include background information, statistics, definitions, poignant examples that will convince a reader of the importance of the topic. The student will include a clear thesis or problem statement; and the student will lay out a road map for how the remainder of the paper will be completed (two to four pages in length utilizing at least two academic sources—see rubric in Black Board under Rubrics).
3. All students will have a scheduled Personal Conference (Public Small Class C) with the instructor in reference to presentation tips. Conference will take place in the last half of course meetings after the first presentation.
4. Mid-Term Exam.
5. The Argument of Discovery section of the research paper unpacks the ideas related to the student’s culture/nation state and examines the data logically to establish how things are in relation to the problem or thesis stated in the concept paper. The student will also re-draft the concept paper as the introduction to this first part of a literature review. This paper should be 6-8 pages long and use at least six refereed sources (no internet sources please).

6. Prepare and present to the class a 10 minute presentation of their topic and argument of discovery and answer questions. Written Evaluation by the Instructor. (Public Small Class B/C)
7. The Argument of Advocacy section of the research paper applies logic to the data collected in the Argument of Discovery in order to suggest a solution to the Thesis/Problem statement. This paper should be 8-10 pages in length and builds upon the previous work.
8. The final research paper. The paper should include a conclusion section that summarizes the arguments and findings. This paper should be 10-12 pages and build upon the previous work.
9. The final 10 minute presentation covers the entire research paper. This presentation is due in Screen-Cast-O-Matic format (or similar approved by the instructor) with final question and answer period. Written evaluation will be given by the instructor. (Public Small Class B/C)
10. Final Exam
11. Each Segment of the course includes 1 or 2 discussion board assignments. These assignments are weighted heavily considering both substance/content and correct grammar/punctuation (see rubric in Black Board).
