   ADD A STACKED LEVEL
   - (400/600)
   - Include syllabi.

   How will the two course levels differ from each other? How will each be taught at the appropriate level?

   Stacked course applications are reviewed by the Undergraduate Curricular Review Committee and by the Graduate Academic and Advising Committee. Creating two different syllabi—undergraduate and graduate versions—will help emphasize the different qualities of what are supposed to be two different courses. The committees will determine: 1) whether the two versions are sufficiently different (i.e. is there undergraduate and graduate level content being offered); 2) are undergraduates being overtaxed?; 3) are graduate students being undertaxed? In this context, the committees are looking out for the interests of the students taking the course. Typically, if either committee has qualms, they both do. (Underline new wording, strike through old wording and use complete catalog format including dept., number, title, credits and cross-listed and stacked.)

Example of a complete description:

PS F450 Comparative Aboriginal Indigenous Rights and Policies (s)
3 Credits
Offered As Demand Warrants
Case study Comparative approach in assessing Aboriginal to analyzing Indigenous rights and policies in different nation-state systems. Seven Aboriginal situations Multiple countries and specific policy developments examined for factors promoting or limiting self-determination. Prerequisites: Upper division standing or permission of instructor. (Cross-listed with ANS F450.) (3+0)

PS F221 International Politics (s)
3 Credits
Offered Fall Odd numbered Years
Introduction to the problems, literature, theory, and terminology of international relations. Provides a basis for understanding current international events and introduces the three subfields of international relations: International security, international political economy, and international organization. Examines relations between nations, regions and groups, as well as ideas of conflict, security, trade, technology, negotiation, cooperation, modernization and community. (3+0)

7. COMPLETE CATALOG DESCRIPTION AS IT SHOULD APPEAR AFTER ALL CHANGES ARE MADE:

PS F221X International Politics (s)

9. ESTIMATED IMPACT

WHAT IMPACT, IF ANY, WILL THIS HAVE ON BUDGET, FACILITIES/SPACE, FACULTY, ETC.

none
10. LIBRARY COLLECTIONS
Have you contacted the library collection development officer (kjensen@alaska.edu, 474-6695) with regard to the adequacy of library/media collections, equipment, and services available for the proposed course? If so, give date of contact and resolution. If not, explain why not.

No ☐ Yes ☒ I called and left a message related to all three of these classes, PS101, PS272, and PS221. None are new courses and none involve extensive research so they should not have any additional impact on the library collections.

11. IMPACTS ON PROGRAMS/DEPTS:
What programs/departments will be affected by this proposed action?
Include information on Programs/Departments contacted (e.g., email, memo)

Political Science will be affected because we will need to ensure the routine offering of all these classes and we are understaffed by one faculty member. We already teach these classes but may have to offer them with more frequency. But, we'll make do.

12. POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE IMPACTS
Please specify positive and negative impacts on other courses, programs and departments resulting from the proposed action.

See above

13. JUSTIFICATION FOR ACTION REQUESTED
The purpose of the department and campus-wide curriculum committees is to scrutinize course change and new course applications to make sure that the quality of UAF education is not lowered as a result of the proposed change. Please address this in your response. This section needs to be self-explanatory. If you ask for a change in # of credits, explain why; are you increasing the amount of material covered in the class? If you drop a prerequisite, is it because the material is covered elsewhere? If course is changing to stacked (400/6000), explain higher level of effort and performance required on part of students earning graduate credit. Use as much space as needed to fully justify the proposed change and explain what has been done to ensure that the quality of the course is not compromised as a result.

We seek to add these three courses PS221, PS272, and PS101 to the GER hopper for social sciences. There will be no lowering of the quality of the courses' content or level of instruction. We are excited to offer this range of classes to the students of UAF so they can learn about the study of governance and complete a GER at the same time.

Hi Andy,

I'm following up on the issue with PS 221 International Politics being included in the GER. The course used to be PS 321 International Politics, offered every fall. I underwent the long, arduous process of getting it down to PS 221 because the course should be at that level and be included in the core. PS 321 was offered every fall, so I'm not sure what the issue is. I did not indicate that PS 221 would only be offered every other year. Please advise.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is an introduction to the key theories, terms, issues, debates, and challenges in the field of international relations. It provides students with a comprehensive understanding of the dynamic interactions that take place between important actors in the international system, such as states, organizations, and groups. The course is broken down into four sections: 1) introduction to international relations, 2) international security, 3) international political economy, and 4) international law and organization. Upon completion of this course, students should be able to apply their acquired knowledge to better understand global events and identify global political patterns.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon completion of this course, students should have:
• gained greater knowledge of major political and historical events in world affairs since World War II;
• learned theories and concepts that help them recognize patterns of interstate interactions;
• developed knowledge of how states try to organize for security and economic success;
• learned how the United States in particular has historically been situated in world affairs; and
• developed their reading, speaking, presentation, and critical thinking skills.

COURSE POLICIES

Academic Honesty
You are expected to adhere to the provisions of the "Student Code of Conduct" as outlined in the UAF catalog, available at www.uaf.edu/catalog/current/academics/regs3.html. In particular, academic dishonesty will not be tolerated and will lead to an F for the course, at a minimum. This includes plagiarism, cheating, collusion, or fabrication. Please talk to me if you are unsure about whether or not your approach constitutes academic dishonesty.
Use of Electronics
Use of cell phones is strictly prohibited during class. Failure to comply with this policy will lower your reading, preparation, and participation grade (see below). Laptop computers may be used for note-taking purposes only. If you are caught browsing the web, checking e-mail, etc., you will be asked to put your laptop away and your reading, preparation, and participation grade will be lowered.

Campus Resources
You are strongly encouraged to take advantage of the many resources available at UAF to help you succeed in this course. These services include:

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS

Reading, Preparation, and Participation (60 points)
You must come to class prepared to contribute to discussions and talk about assigned readings. The effectiveness of the course is determined largely by how well you engage the reading material, assess key concepts, and participate. Your participation grade will be calculated by how much and how well you contribute to class discussions. The use of cell phones and other electronic devices (apart from laptops for note-taking purposes) during class is prohibited and will lower your reading, preparation, and participation grade.

• From time to time, you will be asked in advance to come to class prepared to discuss a current event related to the week's theme.

Prompt Responses (100 points)
At the beginning of each week, I will post in Blackboard a prompt related to the week's topic and readings. Simply download the prompt from Blackboard and respond to it with an essay that is at least 500 words. You must print out and turn in your response to me in class on that week's Friday. You will not submit a prompt response in the weeks when you have an exam. Late responses will not be accepted.

Three Tests (150 points – 50 points each)
After each sub-field section (international security, international political economy, and international law and organization), you will have an exam on class and reading material. There are three tests altogether. Each will consist of a mixture of questions, such as fill in the blank, short answer, and short essay. Make-up tests will not be given.

Final Exam (90 points)
The final exam is a comprehensive take-home exam in essay format. You will have one week to complete it. I will distribute it (with detailed instructions) on TBD, and it will be due via e-mail on TBD. Expect a confirmation e-mail. The exam will cover topics from class, so the readings and lectures will be an invaluable resource to help you complete the final. Late finals will not be accepted.

*For Those Registered for the Honors Section of This Course Only:

Research Paper (50 points)
In addition to the above requirements, you will write a paper describing how each of the three theories (realism, liberalism, and constructivism) explains a conflict or peaceful relationship of your choice. In your paper, you must argue which perspective best explains the conflict and choose a specific level of analysis (individual, domestic, or systemic).

Technical Requirements for the Paper:
* At least ten pages in length (not including cover page or references)
* 12-point font
* Double-spaced
* 1-inch margins
* Include section headers
* Cover page (not included in page requirement)
* References (not included in page requirement)
* Include page numbers (the cover page is NOT page 1 – the first page of your writing is!)

Due Date:
You can turn in the paper at any point during the semester but no later than class on TBD.
