Course Description

An introduction to what writing is and does and how people learn to do it in the humanities, with a focus on the disciplinary questions, methods, and reasoning that shape the genres and writing practices in the field.

Course Goals

This student-centered, audience-based writing course is designed to help students develop rhetorical strategies for active citizenship in and out of the classroom. [Further description written by instructor and provides 1-2 sentences on the course theme/topic.]

Student Learning Outcomes

Students will write at least 30+ pages of compositions in order to do the following by the end of the course:

- frame an issue to an established audience, engage divergent perspectives on that issue, and contribute to an ongoing conversation in the humanities.
- interpret texts and data by applying theoretical frameworks from the humanities.
- demonstrate consistent use of a broad range of conventions and genres that conform to the goals of writing in the humanities.
- · assess their choices as writers.

Texts and Materials

Readings will differ across sections. Internet and Computer Access A grammar handbook/style guide

Methods

- Peer review is essential to this course. During peer review, you will develop your abilities of paying close attention and how to talk about choices of a text and their consequences.
- The rhetorical situation--context, audience, and purpose--is examined and practiced in this writing class. It will be introduced through interactive workshops to help you pose and solve writing problems, as a writer you can apply these essential concepts to future writing situations.

9

 This writing classroom provides a space for you to approach writing as a recursive process, you will be asked to write drafts, revise, and re-work writing over a unit and the semester.

Course Policies

University Writing Program Attendance Policy

Our synchronous writing classes taught at UAF require attendance. Because writing courses depend on class discussion, peer review of writing, in addition to lecture and presentations, our classes share a baseline attendance policy. Students enrolled in writing classes must attend 80% of synchronous class sessions in order to be eligible for passing the course. Plagiarism Policy

Student Code of Conduct

Honesty is a primary responsibility of you and every other UAF student. The following are exact words from the student code of conduct in the UAF Catalog regarding academic integrity:

- Students will not collaborate on any quizzes, in-class exams, or take-home exams that contribute to their grade in a course, unless the course instructor grants permission.
 Only those materials permitted by the instructor may be used to assist in quizzes and examinations.
- Students will not represent the work of others as their own. A student will attribute the source of information not original with himself or herself (direct quotes or paraphrases) in compositions, theses, and other reports.
- No work submitted for one course may be submitted for credit in another course without the explicit approval of both instructors.

Alleged violations of the Code of Conduct will be reviewed in accordance with procedures specified in regents' policy, university regulations and UAF rules and procedures.
